League Continues Effort To Adjust Differences In Manchurian Dispute

By ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

QUAI D'ORSAY, PARIS, Nov. 23.—Sharp warning of an impending attack by Japanese troops on the city of Chinchow was delivered to the League of Nations Council this afternoon by Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese delegate.

League circles admitted receiving reports of withdrawal of Japanese forces from Tsitsihar in northern Manchuria, and their concentration in the vicinity of Chinchow. The new movement by Japanese forces was believed designed to drive all Chinese troops out of Manchuria.

Meanwhile, with the threat of a new conflict developing, the league continued its difficult task of adjusting differences between the various powers over the duties of the proposed neutral commission to inquire into the entire Manchurian situation.

Talking about the unusual weather, W. T. DIVORCE FOR ASKING PUTS PREMIUM ON VICE —MAHATMA M. K. GANDHI.

By LINTON WELLS

(Copyright, 1931, by International News Service.)

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Easy divorce is undermining the foundation of society and putting a "premium on vice," Mahatma M. K. Gandhi declared today in an interview in which he compared the marriage and divorce problems of India and America and predicted the collapse of western civilization.

"I don't believe in divorce," Gandhi said, "because when one is granted it means that marriage is failing as an institution, and I don't want to see that. I hope my wife never divorces me, and I don't think she ever will, as we settled it between ourselves that we shall never divorce each other."

The mahatma explained that insofar as divorce is concerned, Hinduism has many contradictions. Divorce is permissable among millions, but among many, including his own clan, the very word is anathema—

Restaurant Man Robbed; Bound; Saved From Fire

Smoke Filled Room Seen By Police Officer And Man Is Rescued

PECULIAR CASE ON LONG AVENUE

Joe Lief Is Found Unconscious And Bound As Fire Attacks Restaurant

Joe Lief, proprietor of a restaurant at 118 East Long avenue, early Sunday morning was the victim of a fire and robbers, according to his statements and what can be determined by the authorities, and is fortunate to have escaped with his life, being found unconscious in the bedroom adjoining his place of business by firemen responding to the alarm of fire turned in by Officer David J. Thomas. Discovery of the smoke filled condition of the restaurant by Officer Thomas about 4 o'clock Sunday morning, is all that probably saved Lief from possible death

Tied With Rope.

Following the discovery of the unconscious form of Lief by Captain Duke Byers, he was removed to the New Castle hospital by the police, where he was given first aid treatmen. When found there was a rope wound around his neck and his feet were tied together. His hands had apparently not been tied.

Fire loss was possibly $60, according to the fire department records, and the fire was occasioned when a partition caught on fire from the heated condition of the stove. The discovery of the fire was just in time to prevent the probable destruction of the one-story frame buidling in which the restaurant is located.

New School To Be Built

Frame Building To Replace Dewberry School Razed By Fire

WILL RUSH WORK ON NEW STRUCTURE

At a meeting of Mahoning township school directors held at the office of County Superintendent of Schools, John C. Syling, Saturday evening it was decided to erect a new school building to take the place of the Dewberry school house destroyed by an incendiary fire last week.

In order that the work may be rushed rapidly to completion, the board is asking for bids to be in by next Friday evening. The new building will be a frame structure built on the same plans as another one recently constructed in the county. County Superintendent Syling has the plans of this building at his office. Contractors will find an advertisement in the News relative to the requirements.

No definits clue to the incendiary who destroyed the Dewberry building has been secured by authorities, although they are still working on the case.

The old Dewberry school house which was burned was erected in 1874. There has been a school building on the old location for over 100 years. The previous school building was known as the Religious school. The new building was named the Dewberry school from the vast number of dewberries that grew on the hill surrounding the school building.

Find Liquor On Oil Tanker, 52 Taken Prisoner

Oil Tanker, Owned By Sun Oil Company, Raided By Federal Agents

$300,000 CARGO OF RUM SEIZED

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Just before dawn this morning, a large massed force of dry agents converged by land and sea upon the "Raritan Sun," an oil tanker owned by the Sun Oil Company and lying at her dock at Court street, Brooklyn, and took 52 prisoners and a $300,000 rum cargo.

The spectacular raid was the culmination of weeks of spying by undercover men who "turned up" the "Raritan Sun" as a rum carrier. Learning that, the federal forces planned a grand sortie that enlisted agents from New York, Philadelphia and Washington.

Gangster Squeals

The big break came through a squeal, the payoff of a feuding gangster who lost his pretty showgirl sweetheart to a rival mobster, and the clever work of an undercover man who posed as a longshoreman to the rum-running crew.

Summer Heat In New England

Unequalled Heat Wave For November Grips Eastern United States

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Thanksgiving day turkeys were but little traded in today, the fifth day of record-making November heat.

Because of the unseasonably warm weather, dealers said, the slaughtering of the birds has been curtailed and 3,000,000 pounds less of dressed turkeys arrived here than last year in the corresponding period.

While the southwest reported frost, New England experienced summer warmth and New York yesterday had its hottest November 22 on record. The thermometer went to 70 degrees, two over the previous record established 48 years ago.

In Franklin, Pa., the mercury touched 76 degrees.

Hunters in Venango, Pa., declared the rabbit season was spoiled by the unseasonably high temperature, which brought out a mass of garden flowers and a fall crop of lettuce and onions.

Start New Well At County Home

Shortage Of Water Threatens Institution As Two Wells Are Inadequate

DEEP WELL WILL AUGMENT SUPPLY

Owing to a shortage of water at the county home, the county commissioners have contracted for drilling of another well. Work was started on the well this morning.

There are at present two wells in service. One is 160 feet deep and the other 180. The third well will be drilled considerably deeper in an effort to get an adequate supply of water.

This morning when Commission P. O. Elder and a News reporter visited the home, it was found that the big tank into which the water is pumped, was only about half full, notwithstanding the pumps were going. Perry Snyder, in charge of the home, reports that he has had considerable trouble of late in getting enough water to run the home.

Drilling of the new well was undertaken as an emergency measure, in order that it might be completed before cold weather sets in.

The two wells at present furnishing the water supply are about fifty feet apart. The third well is being drilled about 100 feet away. The water from it can be pumped into the tank now in use, at it is believed adequate.

Workmen who started digging a trench from the new well to the home, found the soil very dry, having apparently been little affected by recent rains.

Relief Fund Grows As Distribution Starts

As the actual work of distribution of food is started this week, more funds will have to keep pouring into the Mayor's Relief Fund to keep the project moving.

Evidence of the willingness of New Castle citizens in need of assitance to work for their aid was shown by the number of men who were started at the project of cleaning out the Neshannock Creek bed and building a retaining wall near the city tool house.

The unemployed people who are deserving of assistance do not want charity, but are willing to work for the assistance which might be given them.

New Castle citizens are responding slowly to the call for material assistance, the fund this morning having been raised to $1,800. Monthly subscriptions now total $775. City Treasurer L. W. McLung, who is treasurer of the Mayor's Relief Fund stated. This amount has been subscribed by 58 different individuals.

This is far from the amount which will be actually needed, however, as reliable estimates show that a minimum of $1,250 weekly will be necessary to caary on the work This means that approximately $5,000 per month will have to be raised.

The attention of the Mayor's Relief committee was called Saturday to the plight of an aged couple residing in the city, who were found slowly starving to death, and did not know where to go for assistance. They were given some nourishing soup and will be regularly cared for by the Mayor's committee. Instances such as these are being brought to the attention of the committee and the various relief agencies every day.

If you have not already subscribed send in your contribution at once to City Treasurer L. W. McClung, using the attached coupon.

Powers' Counsel Gains Point In Legal Skirmish

Judge Allows Defense Counsel To Examine Witnesses In State Of Venue Plea

POWERS UNMOVED IN COURTROOM

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 23.—Counsel for Harry F. Powers, accused "bluebeard" slayer of five persons, today won the first of a series of legal skirmishes preceding Powers' trial for murder when Judge John C. Southern granted J. Edgar Law, Powers' attorney, permission to examine 32 Harrison county residents who submitted affidavits stating Powers could receive a fair trial in the county.

Affiants will be examined at 11 o'clock Wednesday, Law announced after Judge Southern ruled.

Public Inflamed

The affidavits were submitted to the court by state's attorney Will E. Morris on Saturday during a hearing on Law's plea for a change of venue. Law, in his motion, claimed public sentiment was so inflamed against Powers a fair trial in Harrison county is impossible.

Still the bland, unmoving spectator, Powers made a brief appearance in court today. He was cleanly shaven and neatly dressed, but wore no collar.

His unemotional appearance contrasted with that of yesterday when, jail attaches reported, he paced his cell in the county jail here nervously and continually.

"Divorce for the asking puts a premium on vice—it's undermining the foundations of society."

Concerning the ultimate outcome of the Indian round table conference here, Gandhi said:

"I can see nothing on the surface to indicate that it is to be a success. Maybe there is something deeper, but of that I have no knowledge.

"Certainly there is nothing on the horizon, but I never lost hope until the act is finished."

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Thanksgiving Day will be fairly pleasant. This forecast is taken from the record for the past two years, when it snowed and turned disagreeably cold on Thanksgiving Day. However, Thanksgiving falls two days sooner this year than it did last year, and the weather on the 28th was just around the freezing mark, with a half inch of snow. But watch out around the end of the week.

Unusual as it may seem Young Pa Newc observed a group of youngsters enjoying a game of marbles down the south side.

How would you like some nice ripe red raspberries and cream for your breakfast? Sounds good, Yes? Well, C. F. Gerould, 318 Norwood avenue, went right out into his garden this morning and picked enough berries off a bush for his breakfast, and the bush had a great many green berries on and if the weather keeps warm these will ripen soon.

Miss Mary Bryan has added another duty to the many she has and it is working out fine. When city employes are injured and need their wounds dressed they can go to the health department. Lately persons who come within the scope of the bureau and who need wounds dressed receive the municipal nurse's attention.

Louis Hoon today reported several tame squirrels in vicinity of Hutchison street. Henry Badger, according to Hoon has fed walnuts to them and yesterday Hoon said that the squirrels were given hazlenuts by Mrs. Hoon. They will take the nuts from a person's hand, according to Hoon.

Although a heavy fog hung over the highways late last night and early today, State Highway patrolmen, stationed in Grant street said today that no accidents of a serious nature had been reported. When fog descends most drivers use caution in operating their machines.

Motorists who were on the Mt. Jackson road near the foot of the hill yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock report that traffic was blocked for several minutes while a dozen or so small pigs made a sortie across the street in the path of the mother pig. Motorists stopped as the procession moved across the highway.

Question that is agitating the police department at the present time is "what has become of the fine silk flag" purchased during the time of Mayor Fred L. Rentz, and hung in the main office of the station. It has been missing, that is, no one has seen it, or knew where to locate it, for a period of the past four months. It is hoped that it will soon be discovered.

RESTAURANT MAN ROBBED AND BOUND; SAVED FROM FIRE

were two, according to Lief, took $32 from his person. There was about $40 in change, which he had hidden, which they did not get.

Place Once Blown Up.

The extenuating circumstances about the case is that what happened to Lief on Sunday morning seems to be but one of the numerous unpleasant and expensive things that occur to him at intervals ever since he has been in business on Long avenue, which has been for some years. On one other occasion his place was blown up.

Officer Thomas was making his rounds about 4 o'clock Sunday morning when his attention was drawn to the fact that the restaurant seemed filled with smoke. The officer immediately turned in the alarm from a nearby box, which brought fire apparatus Nos. 1 and 5 and A. & B. firemen in charge to the scene.

Officer Thomas returned to the scene pending the arrival of the fire departments and found on investigation that a window of the bedroom and the rear door leading to the kitchen were open.

As was previously stated, the unconscious body of Lief was found on the floor of the bedroom with a small piece of iron lying nearby his body, also his empty pocketbook.

The fire was put out with small resulting loss. When Lief regained consciousness at the hospital, he informed Fire Chief Charles H. Lynn and Captain J. E. Elder and Officer John Moore that the girls employed in the place had gone home about 2:15 a. m. After they had gone, four men, strangers to him, came in and asked permission to use the lavatory.

They left immediately and when they were gone he locked the door, turned out the lights in the restaurant and went to the kitchen, the middle room of the place, to clean it up.

Held Up By Pair.

This was about 2:30 a. m. and suddenly two of the four men who had been in the place came into the kitchen from the rear door. One of the men, who was tall an slender, about 25 years of age, had a dark mustache, dark blue suit and brown cap, pulled a gun on him and said "We want your change".

Lief told them his wife had taken it. Then the other, who was 5 feet 6 inches in height, smooth-faced and dressed in gray, took a small round piece of iron and hit him on the forehead, knocking him down, according to Lief.

They dragged him into the bedroom, tied him up and took his pocketbook, removing the money from it. That is the last he remembers of the incident.

The wound on the head of Lief was not serious and gave the appearance of being a number of scratches. He was able to return to his home later Sunday.

Family Day Held Sunday At First Congregational

The Pastor Brings Appropriate Messages At Both Services Of The Day

Family day was observed Sunday at the First Congregational church and it proved to be unusually successful. Friends visited the church from neighboring communities as well as from many churches within the city. The pastor brought appropriate messages at both services.

The following persons contributed to the program of the day with solos and duets: Mrs. William Johns, Miss Elvira Bluedorn, Dan Hughes Jr. and Miss Cecelia Hughes, Miss Florrie Davies; Mesrs. George Anthony and Harry Evans, the children's chorus, the ladies' chorus and the young men's Bible class chorus, rendered a number of beautiful selections at both services and these were well received by the large congregations.

Family day was also observed in the Sunday school and Christian Endeavor with a marked increase in attendance. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers by the Sunday school classes and many other friends, and the whole membership aided in making the day one which will linger longer in the memory of all who attended the services.

LEAGUE IS TOLD JAPANESE PLAN FOR NEW ATTACK

on the League of Nations council unexpectedly came to the aid of China today and won an important point from that nation in the negotiations preceding appointment of a neutral commission to inquire into the Manchurian situation.

During a secret session of the council, International News Service learned, the delegates of at least three of the smaller nations entered emphatic objections to the draft prepared by Foreign Minister Aristide Briand of France setting forth the duties of the proposed commission.

They objected to the draft on two grounds. First, they charged, if united the commission with continued occupation of Manchuria by Japanese troops, and, second, it made no provision for representation of the smaller powers on the investigating body.

They succeeded in convincing M. Briand and the delegates of the great powers that Japanese occupation and the underlying causes of the dispute should be treated separately. Under the terms of the Briand draft, they held, the commission would serve as an alibi for maintenance of Japanese troops in Manchuria.

Senor Madariago of Spain, M. Fetitch, of Jugoslavia and Foreign Minister Zaleski of Poland, acting as champions of the lesser powers, led the onslaught against the Briand draft. They not only opposed linking the inquiry with Japanese occupation, but emphatically opposed the suggestion, put forward by Japan, that the commission be restricted to three members representing the chief powers.

The first objection chimed in exactly with the reservation made by Dr. Alfred Sze of China when he tentatively accepted the commission proposal. On Saturday, when the proposal was made by Japan, he announced flatly that China would never consent to permitting the commission to serve as an excuse for continued Japanese occupation.

The league council now is faced with the task of convincing Japan that evacuation of Manchuria must be undertaken entirely independently of the investigating commission.

RELIEF PROGRAM NOT TO BE CHANGED ASSERTS GOVERNOR of the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce given to the loan contribution prosperity bond plan," the Governor said. "That means the plan is beginning to be understood."

He took exception, however, to the Chamber's contention that the road work proposed should be done by contract instead of under direction of the Department of Highways as at present.

Under the contract the usefulness of highway work as a means of relief would be destroyed, the Governor asserted. It also would be impossible, he pointed out, to select the most needy cases, to stagger employment or to keep the use of labor saving machinery at a minimum.

FAITH

We often hear the expression, "This firm or individual needs it, and some other firm referred to does not need it", stop and think, why don't you place your money in the keeping of some one else than a banker or why don't you purchase your goods at a little corner store, in place of a large department store or purchase your wearing apparel at some store with very little stock, just in order to give this business to the man who needs it.

Does being able to render service in the different lines of business not mean anything?

MEMBERSHIP TEA BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Brilliant and perfect in every appointment was the Membership Tea of the New Castle chapter of Hadassah, held Sunday afternoon in the Beth Shalom center, Boyles avenue.

Mrs. L. Kohn, president, acted as master of ceremonies and presented the various numbers on the program. The members of Junior Hadassah gave a most amusing and humorous sketch, "A Change of Heart", with Miss Florence Shapo portraying the part of a young lady intent upon the career of teaching school, much to the disappointment of her lover, which was cleverly taken by Dora Winick; the supporting cast included Mildred Levine, Celia Lerner, Esther Fishkin, Ellen Shifman, Sara Love and Hannah Kulkin.

Pep songs were led by Mrs. H. Kalish and Dora Winick, with Alice Shifman at the piano, and the interesting part of the songs was that they were written by Mrs. M. Schoenberger and were cleverly arranged.

The speaker of the afternoon was Rabbi Carl Manello of Temple Emanuel, Youngstown, O., who made his initial appearance in New Castle and his dynamic address on "The Ideals of Hadassah" was one which made a prominent place for him in the hearts of his hearers.

Rabbi Manello said the ideals of Hadassah were love, sympathy and service and he told of the wonderful work being done in Palestine by Hadassah toward establishing a country for the Jews of the world. While the national is buying land Hadassah is going forward with the work of building hospital centers and other institutions to take care of the sick and weary. He appealed to the women to join with Hadassah in the splendid work the organization is doing.

At the close of the rabbi's address the assemblage joined in the singing of "Hatik-Voh" and then a social hour was enjoyed.

The tea table presenetd a beautiful appearance with its low bowl filled with baby mums as a centerpiece and placed about this in a square were four blue tapers, carrying out the Hadassah colors. Small cakes and sandwiches of a number of varieties were served. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. H. Cukerbaum, Mrs. S. Edelstein, Mrs. D. Frank, Mrs. I. Grossman, Mrs. H. Wolfe, Mrs. I. Ginsburg, Mrs S. I. Zakuto, Mrs. Phillip Winick, Mrs. B. Brown, Mrs. S. Blau, Mrs. E. Kaplan, Mrs. A. Goldman, Mrs. A. Frank, Mrs. J. Gerson, Mrs. H. Kalish, Mrs. M. Davis and Mrs. I. Myers.

Following the business transactions, Mrs. Marvin Dinsmore and Miss Helen Reed read a series of letters received from friends written during the World War while in France that were extremely interesting. This comprised the afternoon program.

ELEANOR WARNER WEDS ROBERT X. GRAHAM

MRS. R. X. GRAHAM

Beautiful in every detail was the wedding which was solemnized in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Warner of Croton avenue at four o'clock Saturday afternoon, when their daughter, Eleanor Kathryn, became the bride of Robert X. Graham, son of Mrs. James Graham, New Wilmington, Pa.

The ring ceremony was performed before an embankment of palms, ferns and chrysanthemums. Dr. Samuel L. Maxwell, pastor of the Epworth Methodist church, officiated in the presence of the immediate families and a few close school and college friends.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was beautiful in a gown of ivory satin and lace, made princess style, with a short train, and her veil was of tulle, caught at the sides with orange blossoms. She carried an arm cluster of casherine roses and valley lilies, her only ornament being a string of pearls, a gift of the groom.

The bridal party entered the living room to the strains of Lohengrin wedding march played by Miss Florence Groth, a senior at Westminster College.

Mrs. Gordon H. Groth of Shaker Heights, O., was her sister's matron of honor, wore a gown of pale blue chiffon, and her arm bouquet was of talisman roses.

Gordon Groth of Shaker Heights, O., served as best man.

Following the congratulatory period a tastefully appointed wedding dinner was served in the dining room, where color tones of yellow and white prevailed. A wedding cake guarded by crystal holders with tall yellow tapers formed the centerpiece.

The bride was graduated from the local high school class of '24, and from Westminster College class of '28, is a member of Sigma Kappa sorority and for the past three years has been an instructress in the Benjamin Franklin high school.

Mr. Graham, a graduate of Mossic high school, Colgate University and the University of Wisconsin, has been for seven years an instructor at Westminster College. He is a member of Kappa Delta Rho and Pi Delta Epsilon fraternities.

After a wedding trip to New York and other eastern cities Mr. and Mrs. Graham will make their home in New Wilmington.

OPTIMISM REPLACING PESSIMISM

THE week has brought about business encouragement. There is a distinct growth of optimism. Exports for the month of October exceeded imports to the value of $36,000,000. The raid on the American dollar has been definitely ended. Cotton is going abroad in increased quantities. There is encouragement among the wheat farmers.

Business charts of the Mid-West manufacturers show an upward trend. Gains in employment are reported from various manufactories. According to Franklin Dobbs, economist of the Ceneral Republic Bank of Chicago, there are general increases in smaller industries. This he holds to be significant, considering that last spring they were sliding downward. Now they are climbing. The glut of commodities is disappearing. "Business," says Theodore R. Gerlach, president of the Illinois Manufacturers, "can not be operated indefinitely on empty shelves."

The monthly survey of the American Federation of Labor notes that "business sentiment is distinctly better at present." Organized effort to meet depression problems "has steadied the public mind." Due credit is given by the survey for helping along this steadying process to President Hoover's activities in checking band failures and liquidating frozen real estate investments, while conferences between ministers of the leading nations have improved world confidence.

We are moving onward. No time now for the croaker, the alarmist. Banish fear. Quit hoarding. Buy what you need and speed the wheels of returning prosperity.

TARIFF HYPOCRISY

Before the Democrats carry this tariff controversy any further they ought, for consistency's sake and lest they make themselves appear ridiculous in the eyes of all and sundry, to go into a huddle and talk over their signals. Up to the present time they have all been talking a different language.

Free trade, is a traditional policy of Democracy. It is still a sacred tradition with some members of the party who happen to have no tariff-conscious constituents demanding protection for their manufactures or farm products. But the 1928 Democratic national convention went on record as favoring a protective tariff and a lot of Democratic leaders are talking high tariffs today.

Generations of Democrats fought for tariff for revenue only. Now Senator Costigan, of Colorado, and Representative Lewis, of Maryland, demand repeal of all duties on imports not in competition with American made goods, forgetting that if there is to be a purely revenue tariff, uncontaminated with the slightest suggestion of protection, the duties should be levied on what we do not produce.

Some day a Democratic politician will be candid enough to confess that his party is for every tariff that protects Democrats and against every tariff that protects Republicans. The party has already been placed on record to that effect by members of its delegation in congress.

What would Miss Democracy do for food for gossip if that Miss Tariff did not live across the street?

COLLEGE SIZE NO BIG FACTOR

Small colleges are often, as President Hoover has well said, of great importance in the lives and development of students. They may be of beautiful and vital influence. On the other hand, they may be doddering in their policies, scant of needed equipment and infirm in the faculty.

The big college may be glorious in inspiration and opportunity, or it may be a chaotic mess—a horde of students who do not know each other, lacking direction and therefore wasting strong faculty and equipment of highest grade.

Size is no indication of worth in an institution. Strength, clear vision and wise direction are everything in college big or little.

THE INTERLOCKING WORLD

Since the rapid development of modern methods of communication and transportation the world has shrunk so that, with the people of the earth continually growing larger one nation, be it ever so small and apparently insignificant, cannot turn over, nor squirm, nor stretch, nor jounce out an elbow without jostling the other nations. Indeed, the interlocking relationships have become such a mazy network that it is not merely the adjacent nations on all sides which are affected by movement or movements of any given nation. But if one nation progresses, if it retrogrades, if it trembles with a convulsion, or expands with an effort or a development of any kind, all other nations, nearby and remote—even to the uttermost parts of the earth—are affected.

If one country were the sole producer or source of one necessary commodity and some disaster should reduce that production to nothing or wipe out that source, when the distributed supply in other lands should become exhausted the world would be affected in business and in living conditions by the famine in that one commodity.

And the same principle applies to nearly all articles of trade: Drought in areas in Asia has its effect on American business; legislation touching certain lines in America will mean much to Australia. The nations cannot live unto themselves—even in business. And through other interests the same principle holds with perhaps less tangible grip but with no less certainty of the fact. This is a world of people of one race of humanity—an ever-shrinking world as measured by natural or invisible ties that bind the tribes of men together.

An Indiana educator gives college football only 10 more years to live. They also predict the end of the world.

Christmas savings in New England are larger than ever, and only a year ago the "Down East" states were pictured as dismal prospects for charity.

The Arm About Your Shoulder
It's Friendly
It's Beautiful

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I saw a football coach standing on the sidelines of a bitterly fought game with his arm about a youngster's shoulders. The coach was middle aged. He knew, but he could no longer do. The boy was young, strong, nervous as a colt, electric. He listened while the coach talked swiftly, with one eye on the moving spectacle before them both. The coach kept his arm about his player's shoulder until the last possible second, and then sent him, with a gentle shove, into the game.

And the coach's arm about that eager boy's shoulder seemed the friendliest, most encouraging thing in all the world.

I have seen two soldiers, one terribly wounded in the leg, the other half blinded, struggle down a ravaged road in war time, their arms about each other's shoulders, coming out of the battle. They comforted each other with a few words, their arms about those shoulders were more comforting still. One seemed to be saying to the other, "Come along, Soldier, it isn't far now." The other seemed to say, "We'll make it yet." . . . I cannot forget such scenes.

I have seen small boys trudging down the street with their arms about each others' shoulders, as if they were saying to all the world, "We're chums, we are — and don't pick on either of us."

I have seen a man, gray of head and past the middle years, put his arm about his old wife's shoulders in an easy sort of way and that unconscious gesture said, for all the world to hear, "We have gone a long way together. We shall go further. We are good friends." And that arm of a man was more lovely than all the glamorous speech of Romeo and Juliet.

That Arm About Your Shoulder is the fairest thing. It is a pledge of comfort, help and friendship. It says, "We are two together, and we shall remain thus." It says, "This world is a lonely place, but you and I together might make it a happy valley."

In a football game, in war, in marriage, in all of life, there is nothing more tenderly beautiful than the Arm About Your Shoulder.

A MINUTE

"Wait a minute" seems to have become your watch word.

No matter what you are asked to do, it is "wait a minute."

More than one tragedy might have been averted if response had been instantaneous.

One minute may be the life or death of the biggest thing in the life of someone; do you want to be responsible?

That one minute might as easily as not spell defeat for you in your most hazardous moment.

You can't tell when that moment may come, neither do you know how nor at the moment of your "wait a minute" just what certain things make for or again your success.

Because you are not expecting the crucial point of time is not proof that life is not holding important moments many and often for you.

There are some who call it opportunity.

If you acquire the habit of mind which says "wait a minute" you will lose many opportunities.

In fact it would not be safe for any impromptu undertaking to depend on you for success because you are not the right kind of a minute man.

Home Building Aid Project Arouses Little Opposition

Country Believes President Has Found Means Of Producing Benefits Which Will Be Felt In Many Sections Of Financial World

President Hoover's proposal that legislation be adopted establishing better banking facilities for the building of homes receives wide approval, as the effects are thought likely to be felt in many directions. It is generally believed that the plan would create a better means of handling mortgages than has previously existed, and thus stimulate building but critics maintain that it would do nothing to reduce costs to the home-builder.

Observing that the plan has "already been indorsed by savings banks and building and loan associations" and that "it is indicated that a volume of credit between twenty billion and thirty billion dollars would be stimulated," the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR declares: "The government's obligation would be relatively small in proportion to the great volume of credit and security commanded by the institutions themselves, and the plan should be considered by Congress without reference to the state of Federal revenues."

"In some communities," according to the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS, "bankers and building-loan associations have 'frozen' so much of their resources in inflated real estate projects that no funds remain for the renewal of sound mortgages on conservatively financed properties," with the result that "unnumbered families have remained in cramped, insanitary quarters, because they could not finance suitable homes." The Daily News feels that, "while the President's plan should promote business recovery, it should have the effect also of lowering building costs and elevating the standard of living of many Americans now miserably housed."

"Especially opportune," is the verdict of the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN on the plan, with the conclusion that "it would be an available resource for the banks and associations making original loans, enabling them to replenish their credit supply when necessary, in this way tending to stabilize the real estate market and to make credit more constantly available to the homemaker." Pointing to "three bank systems—one in operation since 1914, the second just about to function, the third awaiting the action of the next Congress," the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR holds that they "would take care of most of the frozen credit," and that "the sound theory behind them all is that whatever there is value, a safe means can and should be found to make use of it in the daily business of the people." The HAMILTON EVENING JOURNAL comments: "There may be some features of the plan which will not meet the approval of Congress, but the basic thought should become a helpful law."

"The indorsements given by real estate, banking, civic and political leaders throughout the country are impressive," says the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE, recalling that "the National Association of Real Estate Boards at its Baltimore convention last May advanced the idea of a mortgage discount bank plan." The COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL offers the judgment: "Construction is one of the big industries of the United States, and so long as it is kept at a minimum because people are afraid to build, unemployment will continue to be with us, and the return of more normal times will be delayed. It has been estimated by economists that every dollar spent in construction is used five times during the year that it is spent; thus every dollar put into circulation on a construction project becomes worth $5 in the succeeding 12 months. If this estimate is correct it is easy to see what result on general prosperity a pickup in building would have."

"The real purpose behind the plan," explains the NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE, "is to put banks that are carrying large portfolios of real estate loans in a more liquid position. This is to be accomplished by making such loans, under closely circumscribed conditions, discountable at regional institutions to be set up for that purpose. It is too early to discuss the machinery of the new system, as Mr. Hoover has outlined it, for as he himself has said the present suggestions are by no means necessarily final. The most obviously satisfactory feature of the proposal, however, aside from the fact that it is designed to meet a definite need, is that it promises to do so without disturbing the existing and experienced institutions engaged in the business of home financing."

"It should stimulate home building," thinks the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR, while the ST. LOUIS TIMES voices the opinion that "it is quite likely the sentimental value of the general idea, together with the far-flung ramifications and known stability of loan associations, will make the initial Congressional attitude generally favorable." The CHARLOTTE NEWS makes the reservations: "If the authority for making loans were to be delegated to a governmental or semi-governmental agency, we should not take kindly to the scheme. As it is, Mr. Hoover has sought, apparently, only to provide the impetus that private business has been unable to obtain from within itself."

Noting Senator Glass' criticism of "the government embarking in the real estate business," the BALTIMORE SUN remarks: "As matters stand at present it is confusing to have the nation's leading rhetorical champion of 'rugged individualism,' and a practical champion so far as unemployment relief is concerned, whooping it up for a Federally fostered and financed system of 'home loan' discount banks."

The President's statement that "there is an element of inflation in the plan" inspires the statement from the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL that "this will be the main bone of contention, yet it is likely that the country just now is so hungry for inflation it will see a very considerable element of inflation in the plan, and therefore smile upon it." The BUTTE MONTANA STANDARD concludes: "Of course, there are many factors involved in any scheme for the general encouragement of people to indulge in home-building. These are factors completely aside from facilitating credit for the capital investment. They involve costs of building a home. Even though credit is easy and reasonably obtainable few people will undertake such an enterprise if a home costs them 50 to 100 per cent more to build in one locality than in another. President Hoover's scheme goes purely to the credit situation. It does not make the cost of building a home any more reasonable."

TO A FAITHLESS TOOTH

Farewell old tooth; comes now our parting day.
Though long I've tried to keep you from decay
I must get rid of you, the doctors say.

Down through the years I've worn you in my gum,
Fed you and loved you; now my heart grows numb;
They tell me, tooth, my poisoner you've become!

After long years of friendship can it be
That you, all unobserved, should turn on me
And plot worse tortures than an enemy?

Sharing my smile, my thought and tender care,
Trusted and cherished. Is it kind or fair
For you to be the root of my despair?

I who have loved you from my earliest youth,
By spying doctors now am told the truth:
"The foe that works such evil is a tooth!"

When friends prove false then bitter is the blow,
One cannot cope with foes he doesn't know.
So faithless cuspid—out today you go!

Never again through juicy steak or crust,
Or pie, or chicken shall your form be thrust;
I'm going to get a false tooth I can trust.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Millie Megs Learns To Eat Spinach

Parents Plan Feeding Program Before Baby's Coming

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

Mrs. Megs and her husband long before their first child was born, often talked together about the habits they were going to cultivate in themselves and the child from the first day of its life; and they discussed in detail the ways by which they would proceed. Knowing that the chances for the baby to live and grow up would be far greater if breastfed, the expectant mother planned so to feed the child, until the age of about nine months.

Mr. Megs agreed that he would not be near when the infant was being fed, lest its food habits should be impaired. From what the happy Megs had read both concluded it would be well to give the child a limited time to nurse at each feeding, to be recommended by the physician. The Megs had spent considerable thought on the selection of a doctor to guide them in the physical care of the child to be born. Also they had carefully chosen a doctor who was to deliver the child at the hospital. To him Mrs. Megs had been going each month for a careful physical check and for guidance of her own diet and health habits.

* * *

At last the baby came and they called her Millie—Millie Megs. After a few months the parents learned that they were able to carry out most of the things that they had planned, and found considerable satisfaction in discovering the accuracy of their foresight. Long before Millie was nine months old she had learned to drink water and orange juice from a cup, and enjoyed taking cod liver oil from a spoon. She actually smacked her lips with satisfaction. The oil had always been kept in a cool place, purchased in small quantities, and the bottle top each time was carefully wiped, so it would not become rancid. Millie also gradually learned to drink milk and vegetable juice from a cup and soon learned to relish such vegetable mash as that of carrots, beets or pinach; also cereal gruel, as advised by the doctor.

When Millie's mother fed her the first vegetable, she gave the child an amount no bigger than a pea. No other food was in sight at the time. It was several days before Millie was given as much at a meal as a teaspoonful. Mrs. Megs soon added new vegetables, as many as the doctor permitted, and she varied constantly among them, from meal to meal. No toys were near while Millie ate, nor any other person. Mrs. Megs was careful not to give Millie at any meal, quite so much as she wanted of any food.

At the slightest sign of the child's having had enough, the food was immediately removed. There was never more than one kind of food before the child at a time.

The child was fed in these early months by Mrs. Megs' hand. Her tongue was not at all employed. She said nothing during the feeding, but performed the process as if she were a mere machine. She wanted Millie to learn to attend only to eating then.

* * *

When Millie Megs was about 11 months old, a vegetable mash on a platter with a spoon beside it, was placed before her. The mother walked away. Millie handled the spoon, dropped it, and began to put the food into her mouth with her hands; some food, of course, got into Millie's ears and hair and over her face, and a little fell to the floor. After a few days Millie learned to use the spoon, and the whole activity proved to her very fascinating. Six months later Millie was able to get semi-liquid foods to her mouth with the spoon. One day when Millie decided that she did not want her carrots Mrs. Megs silently removed them, put the baby down. Millie cried and begged for something else to eat, but her mother acted deaf and blind. At the next meal there was no such trouble. Millie now is three. She eats everything set before her and she eats with the family at the table.

Salvation Army Social Service Work Important

Feature Of Army Work Is Believed Misunderstood By Public

One of the activities of the Salvation army, which is apparently much misunderstood in this community, is that of the Social Service department, which operates separately from the regular corps, such as is maintained here.

This department is entirely dependent on its own resources and must finance its own work. In the past year in this country, it gave employment to 800,000 men, many of whom were too old to get work of any other kind, or had met with some misfortune, or were disappointed in life.

These men received from $2.50 to $10 a week beside their board for various kinds of work. The lower wage was paid to men, who went out collecting on trucks or bailed waste paper or work of that kind.

When you compare the 4900 corps centers such as we have here with 450 such social work centers, it is readily understood why each social work center has a much larger district to cover.

It so happens that the local district is touched with the work of the Youngstown social center, which has the whole of Lawrence county and four other counties, in which there are twelve large cities.

The materials gathered are put in shape to sell in order to maintain this work. It never has been represented that the materials gathered in this way were given away but it is a fact that such stuff as is needed is always available to any local corps as it needs it.

Quite a little has been given out from that source in the past year by the local corps, there being more than twenty cases in which anything from a bed to four rooms of furniture were supplied to people here, who had been sold out for rent or had a need on account of various emergencies.

At the present time and during the emergency of the Mayor's Relief committee Ensign V. Thomsen, officer in charge of the corps here, has arranged to have the Youngstown service truck discontinued and arranged with owners of local trucks, who are out of work, to gather materials here, all of which will be turned over to the Mayor's Relief committee.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

(By Central Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—For years New York has been crying for more subways. Then, at the cost of many millions, it built the Eighth avenue subway. Now, it's about finished—and idle. The city can't agree on who is to operate it. Hundreds of new style cars, bought for it, stand rusting. . . . Speaking of subways, New York folk who desire to see Maude Adams as Portia in "A Merchant of Venice", will have to go via tunnel to Newark, N. J., to see her—at least, this year. Doing the best business of anybody on "the road", Maude Adams has decided not to chance Broadway for the present. She may even cancel Newark. Returning to the stage following 13 years' retirement, Miss Adams is reported by New York booking offices to find her public still loyal—and a bit curious.

Wall street operators, who found stock market trading dull and went to Chicago to indulge in that little rise (and speculation) in wheat, have returned to New York.

HOSPITAL EXPERIMENT

Mount Sanai hospital, on Fifth avenue, has opened a new 12-story structure designed to accommodate patients of moderate means at an expense to the patient of less than half the present charge for private care. A similar plan has been successfully carried out in Boston, and may indicate a trend of lower hospital costs. When I'm hit by an auto I'll remember that.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Two Programs To Be Given Tonight In Little Theatre At Westminster

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 23.—Two one-act plays will be presented by the class in acted drama at Westminster College tonight, Professor A. T. Cordray announces. The plays will be given in the Little Theatre and there will be two presentations, at 8:15 and at 9:15.

The two plays will be "The Romancers" and "Overtones". "The Romancers," a costume comedy, will be set in the 18th century. The costumes for this production have been made by girls in the class on stagecraft, with Alice Rowse, Beaver; Helen Bareman, Pittsburgh; and Dorothy McGeoch, Cambridge, N. Y., in charge.

The cast includes: Mildred Ralston and Ruth Hayes as two romantic lovers, Elizabeth Curtis and Helen McCuen as the fathers of the lovers, and Olive Mills as the villain. Miss Ellen Cottrell is student director of this play.

The second play, "Overtones," is an expressionistic drama. Howard Bay is student director. The cast includes: Sara Haney and Annabel Stevenson as the two women, and Angela Altiere and Dorothy Kuhn as the spiritual selves of the two women.

Two other one-act plays will be presented by the class in acted drama early in December. These plays are, "The Boor" and "When the Horns Blow." The student directors of these two productions are Thomas Herriott and Dorothy McGeoch.

All drops, scenery, and most of the properties for these plays are being made by the students in Professor Cordray's classes. Costumes for the productions are also being made by the students. In this way practical experience in stagecraft, costuming, makeup, acting, directing, and lighting is given students who are majoring in the course in speech and dramatic arts.

As Mrs. Spangler had been held in jail since October 22, the court ruled that she had been punished sufficiently.

More than a hundred and fifty men designated by their respective churches and organizations are expected to attend the meeting.

'Four Hundred' Figures

Social Leaders Of New York And Nation As Seen By Ethelda Bedford, New Castle News Staff Writer

MRS. VINCENT ASTOR

Mrs. Vincent Astor

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Even at the age of five she knew the little boy Vincent Astor, and he took her part when their playmates pulled her pig tails.

When her engagement was announced to "the wealthiest and most eligible young bachelor in America" society writers said "Vincent Astor has chosen early in life to sacrifice his freedom and in consequence has bestowed his heart and hand—to say nothing of his fortune—upon a tall, fair-haired athletic girl, the sweetheart of his childhood."

Today Mrs. Astor has a freshly beautiful skin, amusement lurking in her violet eyes, and bronze lights in her hair. She is one of the prettiest of the "400" and one of the most discussed.

Astor Neighbors

While her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Palmer Huntington, of Hopeland House, Staatsburg, N. Y., lived near the Astors, at Rhinebeck, for years, and for years the pretty Helen Dinsmore Huntington and the handsome Vincent Astor had been friends, the announcement of their marriage came as a surprise to society as a whole. Miss Huntington had not been heard of by society in general. She had never been to Newport and the other fashionable summer resorts (where for years since her marriage she has practically set the pace).

Her life had been very sheltered, with the healthful training common to the young women of the better class of English families.

An English governess was her constant companion since early childhood. Even now she speaks much like an English-born woman.

She attended a fashionable school at Dobbs' Ferry, where the finishing touches were put on her education. In summer during school she was taken on instructive tours of Europe. Two winters she lived in New York. She looks back on these winters as being monotonous because she missed the country so.

She likes walking and reading. She likes yachting parties. She and her husband have had numerous long cruises in their yacht, "Nourmahal".

Mrs. Astor has presided with due grace as the mistress of the countless millions of the Astor estate. Her graciousness is known everywhere.

Called Match-Maker

For years she was called a matchmaker, as it seemed many marriages occurred in her set, and both parties were dear friends of Helen Astor.

Mrs. Astor holds an undisputed place in Manhattan society, society of two worlds, for that matter. For more than 100 years the name Astor has headed the RIGHT people in New York. And the various members of the Astor clan control a fortune estimated as high as $500,000,000, much of which is invested in New York real estate purchased originally by the founder of the Astor fortune and social position—John Jacob Astor.

THREE YOUTHS BEATEN UP IN STORE HOLD-UPS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 23.—Three Youngstown youths, two of them bearing the marks of a beating inflicted by intended holdup victims, confessed today that they planned to hold up Bruno Polito's confectionery store on Wilson avenue, in Campbell, near here.

The youths, Eugene Fields, 19, a high school student; Leon Snyder, 22, and Mike Pochero, 20, were captured after their holdup attempt at the Polito store was frustrated by customers. The lads were armed with a repeating shotgun, and Snyder and Fields used it to try to intimidate patrons in the store. The customers, however, leaped upon the youths. Snyder was beaten and Fields fled. The third youth, who had been waiting in an auto, was arrested later.

Simple Ceremony Marks Burial Of Jos. G. Armstrong

Late Veteran Commissioner Of Allegheny County Laid To Rest Today

SENATOR DAVIS ATTENDS BURIAL

Messages Of Condolence From All Sections Of State—Laud Political Career

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—In the mourning-draped rotunda of the Allegheny county courthouse, the body of County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong today received the last tribute from thousands of Pittsburgh citizens, public officials and political associates before the veteran county political leader is laid to rest this afternoon in Southside cemetery.

Public viewing of the body was to end at 1:30 p. m. o'clock, after which it was to be taken to the cemetery, following simple funeral services conducted by Rev. Dr. Carl A. Voss, pastor of the Smithfield German Evangelical Lutheran church.

Attendance Limited

By direction of the late Commissioner and members of his family, only members of the family, close friends and intimate political associates were to attend the funeral.

Following the services, the cortege will pass from the courthouse over Fifth avenue to Sixth avenue, thence over the Liberty bridge and through the Liberty tunnel over Saw Mill Run boulevard to the cemetery. The last three improvements, it was recalled today, were all built under the leadership of the late Commissioner during his chairmanship of the board.

Interment will be made shortly after 2 p. m.

At the cemetery, the body of the battle-scarred political general will be laid beside those of his parents, a brother and two sisters.

Senator Davis Present

U. S. Senator James J. Davis headed the long list of official dignitaries attending the rites. Plans were afoot early today to adjourn the criminal courts during the day as a mark of respect, which civic organizations planned to meet at the courthouse to pay their last tribute to the late commissioner.

Meantime, messages of condolence continued to pour in to the Armstrong family from friends and political associates of the late Commissioner throughout the state. From judges, legislators, county and city officials throughout Pennsylvania they came, paying tribute to the leadership and political acuman of the grey-thatched Allegheny county leader and lauding his personal and political qualities.

SPEAKS ON ASTRONOMY

It was an enlightening talk on the astronomy merit badge that Dr. S. S. Myers, local astronomer gave before the members of Troop 17, First Presbyterian church troop, at their regular meeting recently in the church. There were eight visitors present and 24 scouts on hand. After the regular meeting a short patrol session was held and then games were played, after which the meeting was dismissed.

Troops 17 and 15 have joined forces with the Veterans of Foreign Wars in their annual collection, repair and distribution of Christmas toys. Others who care to may also join. It will count as a good turn for December, and will help brighten many a needy home. Troops who can collect old or used toys, can get them collected by truck, by phoning the local scout office.

At a meeting of the deputy commissioners Tuesday night the project will be discussed.

Prohibition Is Pushed To Fore

Approach Of Congress Session Brings Renewal Of Controversy

RASKOB QUERIES PARTY SUPPORTERS

All Who Contributed To Fund Are Asked To State Their Views

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23—The storm of controversy raging about prohibition gathered force today with the convening of Congress only two weeks away.

Return of the legislators to the capital apparently inspired both wets and drys to renewed activity along the various fronts.

Outstanding in the week-end developments were:

1. John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, sent a questionnaire to all of the 48,580 persons who contributed to the Democratic campaign fund in 1928, seeking yes or no answers to seven questions dealing with the Democratic attitude on prohibition for 1932.

2. The W. C. T. U. announced a vigorous campaign of opposition to resubmission of the 18th amendment to the people. The W. C. T. U. will hold a national conference here next week upon the eve of Congress convening.

3. A group of southern dry Democratic women challenged Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt to amplify his position on prohibition by stating what he proposed to substitute for the 18th amendment if it is repealed.

See Furore

The Raskob questionnaire threatens to cause considerable furore in Democratic ranks, although on the surface it is simply an attempt by the national chairman to elicit the views of the rank and file of the party.

Acting apparently on the theory that those who foot the party bills should at least be given an opportunity to state their views, Chairman Raskob has sent out nearly 90,000 letters to the party contributors asking them to stand up and be counted.

Specifically, Raskob's questionnaire asked:

1. Should the Democratic platform in 1932 contain a definite declaration on prohibition?

2. Should the platform commit Democratic members of Congress to vote for resubmission of the 18th amendment to the people?

3. Should the platform commit the party to ratification of future amendments to the constitution by a vote of the people themselves and not by state legislatures?

4. Should the platform commit Democratic members of Congress to a new constitutional amendment embracing what has become known as "the home rule plan?"

5. Should the platform commit Democratic members of Congress to vote for a proposal which will give the people themselves the opportunity to vote for straight out repeal of the 18th amendment?

6. Should the platform commit Democratic members of Congress to vote for a resolution proposing modification (amendment) of the 18th amendment instead of straight-out repeal?

7. Whether other economic questions will be so overwhelmingly important in 1932 that the Democratic platform can successfully ignore the prohibition question.

In his accompanying letter Chairman Raskob stressed the fact that 10 out of 11 members of the Wickersham commission recommended repeal or revision of the 18th amendment. He also observed that since the report was published last January "there has been no material improvement in the enforcement of prohibition".

"I believe the time has come," he said, "for the Democratic party to face this issue squarely and to present to the people a definite plan under the policy of states' rights and local self-government."

The list of Democratic campaign donors embraces every state—from New York's 17,412 to Nevada's 30.

The drys are expected to object to the questionnaire on the ground that most of the campaign contributors in 1928 were wet, and naturally this will result in an overwhelming wet response to Raskob's poll.

Move To Rid City Of "Panhandlers"

City Mission Group Will Convene To Talk Newly-Sanctioned Method

Outlining a new plan whereby transient "panhandlers" will find find New Castle not so desirable a city to call on, a group of civic-minded men will take action tonight to place into operation immediately the ticket-coupon system being promoted by the City Rescue Mission. The meeting is called for the Mission at 8 o'clock.

The plan calls for pedestrians to hand out tickets instead of cash to those who ask them for donations on the street. At the Mission the tickets would give any man with a ticket an opportunity to work for lodging and warm meals.

Superintendent B. J. Watkins announced that tonight the group will discuss a new plan for ridding 'panhandlers" that already has received the sanction of authorities here.

The suggested procedure would be for local residents to summon police when a 'panhandler" insists on cash instead of a ticket donation. Authorities would allow 10 minutes for the traveler to cross the city line.

Hercules, 6, Lifts His Uncle

If the ancient Greeks marveled at the feats of the infant Hercules in strangling serpents to death, what would they think of this six-year-old modern Hercules who can carry his 197-pound uncle on his shoulders! The lad is little "Buddy" Andrews, of New Westminster, British Columbia, Canada. He only weighs 45 pounds and is but 3½ feet tall. "Buddy" could stand on his own feet when only five weeks old and scaled a 22-foot ladder at the age of 23 months! The youthful Hercules is fond of boxing and recently drew blood from his uncle's nose in a exhibition bout. Look at those back muscles (left) and his lifting of his uncle (right).

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

ROTARIANS HEAR AVIATION TALK

J. E. Mooney, Pittsburgh, Provides Noon-Hour Message For Clubmen

Secretary J. E. Mooney of the Air Travel League of America, Pittsburgh, author and platform lecturer, urged New Castles' Rotarians to look upon aviation today from a sound and stable viewpoint, and not solely from the sensational side. Mr. Mooney, speaking at the club's luncheon in The Castleton, was discussing "Air Travels".

Mr. Mooney told the Rotary men to encourage a better understanding of aviation and to discourage licensing large numbers of young pilots who have not had enough experience to qualify them to fly machines.

He also urged youth to assume a better attitude, to substitute the thrill and sensation they imagine is to be found in it for something more concrete. He said youth should have the history of aviation interpreted to it, have the possibilities of aviation explained, and be encouraged more to enter the study of the mechanical or other vocations related to aviation.

Mooney is a personal friend of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and other leading lights in the aviation world.

W. E. Hoffman, field secretary for the Salvation Army, here to direct the Army's fund-raising campaign, spoke briefly before Mr. Mooney.

Boys Are Cause Of Robbery Report

A number of boys, who were shooting arrows from bows over the week end were the innocent cause of causing a property owner of the North Hill district to call upon the police to investigate what appeared to be a robbery attempt.

The officers making the investigation found the marks on the posts of the porch, where somebody had made an attempt to climb up to the porch roof.

He was getting nowhere with the investigation, when a party who had been watching the investigation called the officers to one side and gave the explanation.

The night previous of the supposed attempted robbery, the officer was told, there had been a group of boys shooting arrows. One of the arrows went up on the roof of the porch and one of the boys climbed up to get it. The home owner heard the noise and thought it was robbers.

Any Old Stove, Donated Now, Will Rout Chills For Needy

Many there are who rest tonight behind the cheerful walls of a cozy, warm home, not everyone though, and those are the ones the City Rescue Mission knows most about. They have enlisted the Mission's support for stoves, for rugs and for clothing.

Somewhere old stoves are standing idly by, furnishing no warmth whatever and no comfort that might be radiated were they aglow tonight in some needy person's home. If in your home there's one that's not needed, will you donate it for these folks at once?

Ask Central to ring you 430, and that's all the effort it'll take to add new comfort to the lives of those whose appeals have reached the Mission.

ELLWOOD DEFEATS AMBRIDGE HIGH IN SEASON'S SURPRISE

Blue And White Completes Season With 13-12 Victory At Ambridge

Game Is Thriller To Fans From Start To Final Whistle

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 23.—Such a flash of power and spirit had been hitherto unknown in an Ellwood high machine this season when they rose to superb heights in committing, probably the most surprising upset on the interscholastic gridiron of the W. P. I. A. L. this year when they nosed out a 13-12 victory over Moe Rubenstein's strong Ambridge high team Saturday afternoon at the latter's field.

The game was decively rated the "most exciting" played in the valley this season. The teams fought bitterly to the last minute. The 5000 fans were nearly hysterical as the battle swayed from one side to the other. Ambridge followers went wild when Quarterback Michelosen threw a 50-yard pass to Schusner from behind his own goal line in the last minute of play. Ellwood had just scored and had a one point lead. The air became tense as Michelosen again dropped back to attempt another pass. A great sigh of relief went up from the Ellwood stands as Frisk and Wilson batted the pass down just as the final whistle blew.

Ellwood's victory is the more glaring when it is realized the various difficulties the team had overcome. There was much dissension over the coaching problem here, which before it was finally settled had three changes. Head coach, Howard Gills and assistant Todd Lloyd brought about a new system after the first three games to which the players had to adjust themselves. Before the system was properly developed, chances of victory were lessened. But as the season wore on the team improved with each game. More praise comes to the coach and team when it is known the type of foe Ellwood was pitted against.

Ambridge high has one of the strongest teams in the history of the school. The only blemish on its record for two season, previous to last Saturday's game, was a 14-0 defeat at the hands of the championship Midland team. They had compiled a great list of victories which brought due respect from every high school in the district.

Ellwood City high had entered the contest a decided underdog. It was their fine spirit backed up by a hard and faithful week of training that humbled the Rubenstein machine. The average weight of the Ambridge team was 156 and Ellwood 150.

The score really does not indicate the astonishing power and attack Ellwood unleashed against Ambridge. They literally ran Rubenstein's machine all over the field, totalling 14 first downs to 5 for the looser at the end of the game. Thrice Ambridge made a determined stand in the shadow of its goal posts to take the ball on downs. When Ellwood's running attack faltered they resorted to the aerial game which got them out of several tight places. The former was their chief weapon although they completed five out of 13 passes to two out of seven for Ambridge. A 29-yard pass in the first quarter paved the way for Ellwood's first marker. Straight football was employed to carry the oval across. This method of play was used in the last four minutes of the game in acquiring the winning touchdown.

The blue and white played heads up football last Saturday. It had rained before the game and between halves to male the field of battle soggy. Despite this condition fumbles were scarce, which were three in number and committed by Ambridge. One of these was recovered by the home team and the other two by Ellwood, with the last one of these in the fourth quarter being converted into a touchdown.

The Ambridge rooting section received quite a shock when Ellwood Threatened to score shortly after receiving the kickoff. Ellwood's first play was a pass from Dick Wilson to Vanderello, which was incomplete. Frisk and Wilson negotiated nine yards in two attempts at the line. On the next play Wilson punted to Michelosen who fumbled deep in his territory. Cavalier, Ellwood's center pounced on the ball. Here a drive was started that ended on Ambridge's 8 yard line. Two first downs were made at this time. This did not deter the blue and white from their ambition. They only gritted their teeth and dug their cleets into the tur fand compelled the home team to punt. Wilson received and commenced a drive that ended over Ambridge's goal line. Frisk and Wilson did the brunt of the ball carrying and had made another first down.

After two more plays netted only 4 yards Frisk threw a 29 yard pass to Captain Sam Neff which brought the ball on Ambridge's 11 yard line. The former then gained a yard around right end and on the next play Ambridge was penalized five yards for offside. Wilson bucked right guard for 2 yards and on the next attempt went over for the score. Captain Neff's placement kick proved to be the winning tally as Ellwood took a 7-0 lead. The quarter ended following the kickoff and one play.

This made Ambridge more determined than ever and they immediately started a scoring drive themselves. Michelosen acquired 5 yards through center, but M. Weber on a reverse play on second down was thrown for a one yard loss. Ambridge produced their scoring play on the next attempt. Parks threw a thirty three yard pass to Michelosen who eluded would be tacklers for the remaining distance to the goal. Bob Kennedy batted down the pass from Michelosen to Czulak in their try for extra point.

The remainder of the period was a battle royal with each team endeavoring to gain every possible inch. Both teams tightened up to have most of the contest fought in mid-field. A good bit of punting was done in this period by both elevens. Several passes were also attempted with Ellwood having the satisfaction of completing the only one. The blue and white had started another drive which gave them two first down when the whistle for the half blew with Ellwood enjoying a 7-6 lead.

This nip and tuck affair was continued upon resuming rivalries in the third quarter with Ellwood getting the better of the argument until the dying moments of the period. Up to this time Michelosen and Wilson continued their punting duel with the former being superior in this department. Late in the quarter the home team started a sudden rally that brought them over the goal line. It was following Wilson's punt to Michelosen on his own 30 yard line that brought woe to the Ellwood stands. After one incomplete pass from Michelosen to W. Weber, the former bucked center for five yards and on the next play Matsik eluded tacklers through right tackle for 12 yards and a first down. This was an incentitive to Parks who reepated the act thrugh center. In two more plays Michelosen and Parks gained 9 more yards. The latter was as swift as a deer when he spied a hole through center where he dashed for 32 yards and a touchdown as the fans go in an uproar. Score: Ambridge 12, Ellwood 7.

One of the grandest rallies ever performed by a blue and white machine was staged in the final quarter as they successfully strived to stave off defeat. The third quarter had ended following the kickoff and two plays. Vanderello got 2 yards off left tackle and then Frisk completed a 30 yard pass to him on the next play to bring the oval on the Ambridge 45, as the final quarter began. After Wilson's failure to gain on the first down, Frisk tossed a 12 yard pass to Neff which was permitted because of Ambridge interference. Two attempts at the line by Frisk and Wilson net them 4 yards. Following this the former threw another fling to Neff for 10 yards. Two line plays and passes were stopped by Ambridge following this to give them the pigskin on Ellwood's 16 yard line. This seemed to take all the fight out of the Ellwood eleven which was almost immediately restored again. Michelosen had gained 1 yard through right guard and on the next play, Matsik went too wide on an off tackle run, the ball just nipping his fingers. Allan Wilson, Ellwood's left guard, swooped down on it like a hawk on his own sixteen yard line.

There was no stopping the blue and white now. Using a short side play over right guard Dick Wilson bucked that hole until he was over for the score, although he was compelled to do it twice. He had gone over from the one yard line but both teams were off side and he had to do it again. Neff's placement kick was a little wide to the right to give Ellwood a 13-12 advantage with less than four minutes of play left. The sudden rally of the line was remarkable as they out charged their heavier opponents to make possible Wilson's winning touchdown.

Dick Wilson intercepted Michelosen's pass on the third down, on his own 45 yard stripe following the kickoff. In two plays Frisk and Wilson negotiate 2 yards and a 5 yard penalty for offside aids the latter in making a first down. However Wilson was forced to punt on the fourth down with the oval going out of bounds on Ambridge's 10 yard marker.

Ambridge performed an unorthodox thing when they lined-up in regular formation and Michelosen completed a 50 yard pass to Schusner from his own goal line. It was the only thing that the Rubenstein men could do in pulling the game out of the fire and they attempted it again. This time Charley Frisk and Wilson were on the spot to bat it down after which the final whistle blew.

This makes it the second time that Ellwood has caused an upset. The first came when they were stacked up against the powerful Butler team whom they tripped by a 6-0 score in a spirited battle. Also the locals decisive win over Rochester was surprising.

An interesting fact in the game was that Dick Wilson called the plays and Bob Kennedy barked the signals. Praise for one or two individuals on the team would be unfair. True, Frisk was flashy with his wide and end runs and passing, and Wilson was a consistent ground gainer and good punter. But their efforts would be fruitless had it not been for the splendid interference of Kennedy and Vanderello of the backfield and Paal and A. Wilson in the line. The former two were splendid defensive backs.

In critical moments it was noticed that Red Vogt would arise out of the line to throw Ambridge backs for losses. Plays through him were few in number. Joe Welsh took care of his tackle berth very efficiently and was always a big obstacle for Ambridge. Caesar Butler, Ellwood's diminutive right end, played with every ounce of his strength and was out on his feet at the end of the first half after which he was replaced by Bill Pander, a half back. Lacking another capable end, Coach Gills, sent in Pander because of his splendid defensive ability. Butler and Pander both performed their duties brilliantly. Captain Sam Neff was a credit to his team as he ran under punts, stopped end runs, and caught passes to bewilder the opponents.

For Ambridge Michelosen and Parks were outstanding in the backfield while Captain Roscoe, W. Weber, and Karakitsos were the best bets in the line.

This contest staged for the unemployed of Ambridge closed the grid seasen of both elevens.

The summary:

Girls Will Not Have Cage Team

Financial Condition And Beaver County Ruling Eliminates Girls Teams

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 23.—Due to the inability of football to make expenses this year there will be no girls' varsity basketball team at the Ellwood City high school this season, Director of Girls' Athletics, Miss Helen Cooper announced today. A further step in this decision was the abolishing of girls' teams by the Beaver County League of Athletics in favor of the annual "Play Day."

Ellwood High girls are too much interested in the game to let it go entirely and upon their request, Miss Cooper has arranged an inter-mural schedule which at present includes 15 teams consisting of 8 girls. More will be added to this list upon request. A committee is working on rules for the new league. Miss Cooper stated that each of the eight girls must be given an opportunity to play in every game.

The annual Play Day this year for Valley Schools will be held on December 9. It will begin in the morning and have an intermission at noon at which time lunch will be served by the local Tri-Hi-Yi. At 1 o'clock a hockey game between two classes that were first in the town meet, will be played. Three more games with undefeated teams will be played after 2 o'clock.

The girls on local hockey teams show much enthusiasm and hold practices twice a week. Deserving girls will receive hockey letters later on in the season.

Survey Discusses Board Of Education

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 23.—Appearing below is the third installment of the Survey Report of the Ellwood City Public Schools as arranged by Superintendent, W. Ray Smith. Here, Mr. Smith discusses the organization and administration of the local schools.

Ellwood City has seven school buildings, five elementary, one Junior High School, and one Senior High School. There are approximately 4000 pupils enrolled. It is a third class independent district, and employes a superintendent of schools.

The schools of this district are managed by a board of seven directors elected at large by the people, each for a term of six years.

Under the direction of the board, the following general plan of organization for the schools has been developed and is now in operation. At the head, and serving as the board's chief executive officer, is the superintendent of schools, under whom are the principals, heads of departments, and teachers. These main features of the organization, together with other details, are shown clearly in Chart 3 which also indicates the various lines of authority approximately as they operate in the system.

Function of the Board of Education

The board of school directors of Ellwood City abolished standing committees at their organization meeting, December 1929, thinking that they could expedite business and make their work more effective if they would follow the practice of boards of directors of various private corporations. Such boards do not administer the details of the work. The board of directors of a business or manufacturing corporation employs a chief executive, adopts certain policies, and directs the executive to put these policies into operation. The superintendent or manager is held responsible for results. The board does not attempt to execute its policies as a board either through committees or individual board members. No individual board member of a manufacturing corporation would think of going into a shop to give directions to the foreman or one of the employees, for he would know that all orders to be obeyed must come from the person having jurisdiction.

The conduct of a school system in a community of approximately 15,000 population is a more complex and technical job than the management of any manufacturing or business enterprise within the city.

Recognizing the above the board of school directors adopted a plan that will get things done in a reasonable way, that is, through one executive officer. The function of the board is to adopt policies. These having been adopted, the Superintendent of Schools should be directed to see that they are put into operation.

Since no individual board member of a successful manufacturing cooperation would give directions to any employee, so no individual member of a board of school directors should be recognized when he attempts to dictate to principals, teachers, or janitors. The individual board member has no more right to do this than has any other citizen. The schools are to be controlled by the vote of the board, and as the superintendent is the executive officer of the board, all directions to principals, teachers, and other employees should be given by the superintendent.

The tendency among city boards of education is to abolish standing committees, for experience has shown that such committees often perform executive functions, divide the board, and cause unnecessary delay and postponement of action.

Every city school survey report in which the organization of the board is discussed recommends that there be no, or very few standing committees. In a recent survey report, that of Racine, Wisconsin, recommends that all standing committees be eliminated. The report on this point reads:

"Eliminate standing committees. A city looks to the board of nine members to manage its schools. With standing committees the board breaks up into several smaller boards, loses some of that unity of understanding on the part of the whole board, which is so essential, scatters its energies and wastes its time."

With the abolishing of standing committees and the employment of a full time secretary as assistant to the Superintendent, it is well to know the exact function of the Board, the Secretary, and the Superintendent so that they may not work at cross purposes and the business of the schools may be conducted in a business like manner.

1. To legislate for the schools.
2. To adopt policies and frequently examine the evidence that the policies are carried out.
3. To administer certain laws as required by the State. To illustrate, the Board must fix the tax mileage; fix tuition rates; select a Superintendent, sanction or veto other appointments; select school sites; take care of bond issues, sales and redemptions; appoint school architects; establish a salary schedule; care for school elections; pass on purchase of fuel, supplies and furniture, and keep itself fully informed as to the extent and conditions of the schools. Innumerable other typical items could be added. These are suggested as fully representative of the kind of business that is transacted by the Ellwood City Board of Education.

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 23.—The Y. P. C. U. of the Ellwood City U. P. church held a very interesting meeting last evening with forty-one present. Miss Bessie Burrows was the leader, the topic being the last chapter of the book, "Citizenship Ideals for Christian Youth".

A special feature was a miniature oratorical contest with Bertha Burrows, Beryle Boots, Frances Kennedy and Braeden McKim as participants. The judges decided in favor of Frances Kennedy.

Decision Near On Relief Plan By Legislature

Believe That Fate Of Pinchot's Relief Program To Be Determined This Week

LEGISLATURE TO RESUME SESSIONS

Conferences Being Held Today On Issues By Governor With Leaders

By LEO V. DOLAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 23. — Pennsylvania legislators returned to their labors in the extraordinary session today fully expectant that developments in the next twenty-four hours will mark the success, failure or drastic revision of Gov. Gifford Pinchot's 15-phase plan for unemployment relief.

Even before the general assembly is called to order at nine o'clock tonight, fate of the governor's program is expected to be foreshadowed at conferences the executive will hold with the full membership of the house Ways and Means Committee and with chairmen of all committees of the lower branch. The conferences admittedly have for their purpose the "selling" of the governor's plans to the house.

Pinchot May Compromise

Strong reports continued to be heard that Governor Pinchot is prepared to compromise on his gasoline, billboard, cigarette tax measures rather than have the entire program wrecked. There was no confirmation whatever of the reports. The governor's last word on the subject was that he had not receded from his original program.

Today's conferences, called by the governor without consulting department heads, are expected to provide an answer to Pinchot critics who have contended the state treasury is bursting with unused funds and huge balances which would be utilized for unemployment relief thus obviating the necessity for the taxation program.

Critics Misled

Administration backers claim that such critics were misled by the fact that the state treasury begain the month with a balance of $63,000,000 in all funds, of which $40,000,000 was in the general fund.

The Pinchot adherents point out that the budget for the biennium as submitted to the legislature was prepared on the basis of $40,000,000 less in revenues than during the previous two year period. Instead of dropping off at the anticipated rate each month the state's revenue now is falling off at $3,000,000 a month compared with the same period last year.

Should that rate of decrease continue or be accelerated the first biennium of the Pinchot administration would show a $32,000,000 deficit at its close. Administration backers declared that part of any funds raised through additional taxation would be needed to meet the situation which may face the budget officers when the legislature meets in its next regular session.

What About Funds?

Administration foes busied themselves today in an attempt to discover to what extent the present administration has used funds, appropriated at the last session, to relieve unemployment. Records of the auditor general's department disclosed that up until November 1 only $307,788 of the $12,970,100 appropriated for New York at state institutions had been expended.

Senate and House begin the third week of the special session tonight. Three bills are on the house calendar while nine will occupy the attention of the senate. Fireworks are expected in the Senate when the resolution of Senator Fay, Mercer, demanding explanation for the expenditure of only a fractional part of building and road construction appropriations, is called up.

Seven Killed In Train Derailing

Livestock Train Near Wellington, Missouri, Is Derailed

VALUABLE HORSES PERISH IN WRECK

(International News Service)

WELLINGTON, Mo., Nov. 23.—Rescue crews today were digging in the debris of a Missouri-Pacific livestock train which was wrecked near here late yesterday killing at least seven men, injuring at least 15 others and destroying several high-priced show-horses.

The rescue workers were rushed to the scene to try to locate additional victims of the wreck who might be trapped beneath the twisted remains of the 20 cars which left the rails. The locomotive remained standing. The train was traveling at the rate of about 60 miles an hour when the derailment occurred.

Valuable Horses

At least ten of the horses were killed and an unestimated number injured. The value of the show-horses carried on the train was estimated at approximately a million dollars. They were on their way to Chicago to be exhibited at the International Livestock Exposition.

Three of the dead men have been identified as John Morgan, 50, a groom, of River Forest, Ill.; Jacob Krieder, 30, Delaware, O., and Alvie Babb, 35, Kansas, Ill. The latter two were horse attendants.

The wreck was attributed to defective rails. The train consisted of 60 cars. Twenty cars flew off the tracks, while the other 40 and the locomotive remained standing. The train was traveling at the rate of about 60 miles an hour when the derailment occurred.

State Affairs Disrupted By King Carol's 'Shiner'

Prince Nicholas Showed Resentment of Royal Brother's Interference In Matrimonial Affairs by Blacking the King's Eye.

It has just been revealed that the recent postponement of the opening of the Rumanian Parliament was the result of a quarrel between King Carol and his brother, Prince Nicholas, in the course of which His Majesty blocked a right hook aimed at him by Nick, but he blocked it with his eye. The royal fracas was the result of King Carol's high-handed methods in declaring the marriage of Prince Nicholas to Lucia Deletj null and void. Nick eloped with the young woman, who is a commoner and a divorcee, and compelled the mayor of a provincial town to perform the marriage ceremony. So incensed was Carol when he heard the news that he ordered all the records destroyed. On Nicholas's return to Bucharest after his honeymoon, King Carol upbraided him for marrying a commoner, forgetting his own amours with commoners Mesdames Lambrino and Lupescu. Words finally came to blows and when order was restored it was found that Carol's majestic eye was in deep mourning. Our artist, to whom a shiner is no novelty, having worn such an adornment on divers occasions, illustrates above how the royal visage appears with the plebeian color scheme.

Garland Corporation Head Dies Sunday At New Haven, Conn.

John W. Garland, Who Headed West Pittsburg Concern For Many Years, Passes Away

John Whyte Garland, for many years head of the Garland Corporation, which has been in the manufacturing business for years at West Pittsburg, and a leading citizen and business man of Pittsburgh, until his removal some years ago to New Haven, Conn., died Saturday evening at New Haven, after an illness of some time.

Mr. Garland was born in Dungannon, Ireland, and came to Pittsburgh when fourteen years of age. He was employed as confidential clerk to the late Senator George T. Oliver at the Oliver and Roberts Wire Company. In 1890, he started in the structural steel business himself. He was the inventor of the automatic chain and in 1893 began his career as a manufacturer in Rankin.

Several years later, the chain business was sold out and the manufacturing of the first electrical steel conduit was started. He was in business with his brother, Pittsburgh Councilman, Robert Garland. In 1903, they expanded the business to West Pittsburg, south of this city as the Garland Corporation. He was president of the Industrial National Bank of Pittsburgh from its inception in 1903 until merged into the First National Bank of that city. He was head of the Garland Corporation and its subsidiary companies until he retired in 1918. He was president of the Public Service Holding Corporation of New Haven and vice president of the Automatic Signal Company of New Haven at the time of his death.

He was a member of Calvary Episcopal church of Pittsburgh. He was a member of the Masonic Fraternity, the Pennsylvania Consistory and Syria Shrine, the Duquesne Club and the Pittsburgh Athletic Club.

Besides his brother, Robert Garland, he leaves his widow, Mrs. Eliza Bailey Garland, two sons, Robert M. Garland of New Castle, and Wallace G. Garland of New Haven, one daughter, Virginia Louise Garland of Pittsburgh, and a sister, Mrs. Anna Garland McClurkin of Aledo, Ill.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at the T. B. Moreland Funeral Home, Pittsburgh, and burial will be made in Homewood cemetery.

Growing Deaf With Head Noises? Try This

If you are growing hard of hearing, and fear catarrhal deafness, or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears, go to New Castle Drug, Eckerd's or your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ½ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to take. Anyone who is threatened with catarrhal deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Woman Official Of State Loses Driving License

Miss Charlotte E. Carr, Deputy Secretary In Labor And Industry Bureau Loses Permit

WAS INVOLVED IN FATAL ACCIDENT

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 23.—Charged with reckless driving which resulted in a fatal accident, Miss Charlotte E. Carr, deputy secretary of labor and industry, today suffered suspension of her automobile driver's license. The action was taken by Dr. Clyde L. King, secretary of revenue, upon recommendation of the safety section of the automobile bureau.

The accident occurred on October 14 near Campbellstown when Miss Carr's state-owned automobile struck one driven by Daniel Peters. Both cars were demolished and although Peters died in a few hours, Miss Carr escaped serious injury.

Held for Manslaughter

The Dauphin county coroner's jury which investigated the accident recommended that Miss Carr's drivers' license be revoked and that a charge of manslaughter be lodged against her in Lebanon county, where the crash occurred. Miss Carr was arrested on a charge of manslaughter and posted a $1,000 bond pending action of the grand jury.

Miss Carr also was directed to appear before Walter W. Matthews, deputy commissioner of motor vehicles and chief of the safety section, to give her reasons for retention of her license. Several witnesses testified that prior to the accident she had been traveling at a high rate of speed on the wrong side of the road.

At the beginning of the present administration Miss Carr, a New York welfare worker, was brought to Harrisburg as the deputy in the Department of Labor and Industry, a $7,500 post, which she still holds.

Dr. James McDowell To Speak Tuesday

Presbytery Conference To Be Held On Tuesday In First Church Here

The National Missions conference of the Shenango Presbytery will be held Tuesday in the First Presbyterian church, North Jefferson street, of which Dr. W. E. McClure is pastor.

The afternoon session will begin at 3 o'clock and will be taken up with reports and addresses by Rev. C. M. Rohrbach of Volant; Rev. J. G. Bingham of Wampum; Dr. C. B. Wingerd of the Central church and Rev. D. C. Schnebly of the Mahoning church.

The climax of the day will come in the evening service at 7:30 when Dr. James McDowell, secretary of the Board of National Missions, of New York City will be the speaker.

Dr. McDowell is a dynamic speaker, and will bring a mission message that will be well worth hearing as his career has dated from missionary work done for him in his early boyhood when he was handicapped by poverty, the loss of an arm in a mine accident, and other tragic happenings.

Dr. McDowell, through the training of his wonderful brain, in lieu of a whole body, has risen from the position of a breaker boy in a mine to one of the highest positions in the Mission Board, and it is anticipated that the church will be filled to capacity to hear him speak.

From all the nominating speeches that have been made anybody might suppose that the Democrats wouldn't have to go to the expense of holding a convention.—The New York Sun.

MANY bitter cough syrups—which children hate so—contain DOPE (Chloroform, Ether, Morphine, Opium.) No question about it—it says so on the label. Look at that label—and then decide whether you want to force your child to take such medicine.

Smith Brothers Cough Syrup contains no opiates, no narcotics, no dope, Nothing, absolutely nothing, that can upset a child's stomach. This syrup doesn't have to rely on dope. Its new discovery, "Triple-Action," does the work. It (1) clears air passages, (2) loosens phlegm, (3) stops coughs fast. Children actually like the taste. Pennsylvania Furnishes More Work On Highways Than Any Other State

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.— The building of state highway in Pennsylvania furnished employment for 27,418 men during October, the President's Organization on Unemployment Relief announced today. More men were employed on such enterprises in Pennsylvania than in any other state in the union.

The Keystone State also led all others in the additional highway construction contracted for during the month, such contracts in the State providing for the construction of 912 miles. The Pennsylvania contracts provided for nearly one-third of the total construction proposed throughout the country, the national figure being 3,531 miles.

According to the report, the last three months of the year usually show sharp drops in the letting of contracts as well as employment on state highways. This year, however, reports coming in show that the states are continuing to make con tracts and give employment.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

Prominent among the residence of New Castle approximately a hundred years ago was Thomas Falls, who came here with his parents, Henry and Susan Falls in 1804. His father located on the tract of "Donation Lands" No. 1951, east of and adjoining Crawford White's tract, the only other residences at that time ebing the cabins of John Carlysle Stewart, the original proprietor of the town, Joseph Townserd, William Munnel and possibly John Watson. Mr. Falls remained with his parents until he was of age and then went to Mercer to learn the tanning trade. After serving an apprenticeship of three years, he went to Pittsburgh and worked at his trade there for one summer. In the autumn of 1815, he returned to New Castle on foot, with his savings of $76 in his pocket. With this limited capital, he founded the tannery, which many years afterward was the property of his son, Thomas Falls. After making the vats himself and getting the tannery ready for business, he went to Mercer on horseback and bought a small quantity of leather, which he carried to Hillsville and placed in a store to be exchanged for hides. These hides he tanned, and thus started a business, which grew and prospered. His lampblack and oil were purchased in Pittsburgh, to which he made frequent visits on foot. Three years after commencing business for himself, during a portion of which time he kept "Bachelor's Hall," he married Miss Sarah Wilson, daughter of Adam Wilson, who resided near the Neshannock church, and began housekeeping in the old John Carlysle Stewart house. He carried on the tanning business until 1851, when he resigned it to his son, Wilson. In 1831, he constructed the third brick house in New Castle. He died October 8, 1865, aged nearly 75 years.

Three thousand students marched through a heavy rain in Nanking, crying for war. Occidental students would be more self-controlled; they would wear raincoats and rubbers.—

Interest Grows In Harmony Baptist Church Revival

Services To Be Continued Throughout Present Week Pastor Announces

There is a deep interest and enlarging attendance at the evangelistic meetings that are being held at the Harmony Baptist church on the New Castle-Ellwood road. The record attendance for the week was on Friday evening.

The devotional service of Wednesday evening was in charge of Rev. H. G. Woodrow who brought a helpful message from the experience of Jesus and the Syro-Phoenician woman. A large delegation from the Wesleyan Methodist church of New Castle was present and a chorus from this delegation sang, "Wonderful Grace of Jesus." This message in song gripped the hearts of all present. The pastor, Rev. S. L. Cobb brought the evening message from the theme; "The Three Groups."

On Thursday evening the devotional period was in charge of the pastor who spoke along this line of personal evangelism. The evening message was given by Rev. Woodrow who spoke in a forceful and helpful manner from the subject, "The Assurance of Eternal Life". The special music at this service was by Mr. Sam Burroughs of Ellwood City. At the opening of the service he sang, "Washed in the Blood of the Lamb" and at the close, "Zion's Hill."

On Friday evening Rev. Woodrow was in charge of the devotional period and brought a message from Psalm 37. The evening message was by the Rev. William Gray, pastor of the Mt. Zion Baptist church. Rev. Gray reached the hearts of his hearers through his message, "The World's Greatest Love Story" based upon John 3:16.

The services will continue throughout the week. Monday evening will be "Young Peoples' night." A guest speaker will bring the message which will be especially directed to the young people.

On Tuesday evening the Book-Lyde Quartette of New Castle will be present.

QUICKEST WAY TO KNOCK A COLD

Millions Say of This Proved Way You Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

Judge Lewis R. Works, presiding justice of the district court of appeals, officiated at the ceremony. Present was a small group of friends and relatives, most of them notables of the film world.

It was the film star's third marriage. Here two former husbands were Chester H. Moorehead and Phil Plant. For the Marquis it was the second matrimonial venture.

Clendening Gives Rules For Standing Posture

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Remember that in standing a plumb line along the side of the body should fall past the middle of the ear, through the hip joint, through the knee cap and touch the floor midway between the ball of the foot and the heel.

Considering this let us analyze reasons for bad posture.

First, the head may be carried too far forward. This throws the shoulders backward so that the chest is too flat. This rounding of the shoulders throws the abdomen forward. All these things develop together, of course. It is not caused entirely by the bad position of the head.

Second, the lower back may be curved more than normally, thrusting the abdomen forward and tilting the pelvis upward. This will inevitably make the knees bend more or less and throw the weight of the body forward onto the toes and balls of the feet.

Two exercises are especially designed to correct these mistakes:

Exercise I

Stand against the wall.
Heels four inches from the wall.
Hands at sides.
Hips, shoulders and head touching the wall.

Flatten the lower (lumbar) spine against the wall, by contracting the abdominal and buttocks muscles. They should be contracted together, keeping the buttocks against the wall. The pelvis rotates through the hip joints.

Exercise II
Rib Stretching

This exercise is especially designed to cure round shoulders. Note that when the shoulders are drooping the ribs are inclined downward.

1. Stand squarely with arms raised and hands clasped behind the head.

2. Raise the right shoulder as nigh as it will go, elevating the ribs on that side.

3. Raise the left shoulder as high as it will go, elevating the ribs on that side.

4. Raise both shoulders at the same time, elevating both sets of ribs.

Try particularly to make the lower ribs flare out with this exercise. Notice that round shoulders cause these lower ribs to collapse. Notice also that it is impossible to have round shoulders with the lower ribs flaring.

St. John's Church Thankoffering Meet

The annual public Thank Offering service of the St. John's Lutheran church will be held Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the church auditorium, under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society, and all members of the church and friends will participate.

Mrs. Garfield Miquel is in charge of the program, which will include special music, a pageant and a guest speaker, who will be Mrs. Carl Genkinger of Youngstown, Ohio, who will be remembered as Miss Geraldine Oesterling, who spent a number of years in Korea as a missionary.

At the close of the program, Mrs. William Mitchell and her committee will be in charge of the social period, when refreshments will be served.

EPWORTH SCOUTS AT HICKS' RITES

Late Scoutmaster's Troop Mourns As Burial Takes Place Today

A silent group of sorrowing Boy Scouts, their youthful hearts burdened with grief, will stand this afternoon before the bier of their beloved Scoutmaster who had worked untiringly to provide them with hours of fun and fellowship ever since he took the oath as leader of the troop.

Up on Court street, the Troop 10 boys will assemble in uniform at 3:30 o'clock today at the home of Charles W. Hicks, tin mill electrician who was killed while at work last Friday. Every troop member was to be dismissed from school for the rites.

Scout Executive Herbert G. Horton and other high leaders of the Lawrence County council will be among the mourners, paying their respect to a man who had long been active as a scout leader. A host of friends augmented the saddened scout delegation.

Troop 10 was to meet as usual last Friday evening at 8 o'clock—it did, just a few hours after Scoutmaster Hicks had died. The meeting was called to order and then adjourned because the death had struck too suddenly.

Scoutmaster Hicks stood at the head of the Epworth M. E. church boys, the sponsors of the troop, at the recent dedicatory exercises of a marker for the late Corp. Brady Paul. Just a week ago Friday night he was at Camp Phillips for a star-gazing trip with the boys.

Burial is to be made in Graceland cemetery.

Ralph Kegarise To Be Pilot In Speed Boat Test

Will Conduct Speed Boat In Endurance Test To New Orleans

R. R. Kegarise of 215 Euclid avenue, president of the Kegarise Transportation Company of Youngstown, O., has been selected to pilot a new speed boat on an endurance run from East Liverpool to New Orleans, La.

The Mullins Boat Company of Salem, O., and the Lycoming Motor Company of Williamsport, Pa., are sponsoring this feat. A new type of high speed marine motor has been developed and the test to New Orleans, which is about 2400 miles will be of great importance to the motor boat industry.

The start will be made from East Liverpool Tuesday and Mr. Kegarise expects to complete the run in about twelve days. After the run has been completed, the boat will be taken from New Orleans to New York, where it will be displayed.

A run of this nature has never been undertaken down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers by a speed boat. The boat will be put in the Ohio river this afternoon and will be christened "Kathleen-K" in honor of Mrs. Kegarise.

Mr. Kegarise has selected to accompany him as co-pilot, J. H. Sheasley, commodore of the Lake Milton Yacht Club of Youngstown. Mr. Sheasley is a noted race driver in the Eastern Ohio district. Movies will be taken of the trip in order to have a record of the conditions under which the run is made.

UNION HIGH DEFEATED BY YOUNGSTOWN EAST

Union's Light Football Team Plays Fine Game On Muddy Field, Score 13 To 7

Rain Interferes With Game Joe Augustyn Scores Touchdown For Union

Union High School football team ended a most successful season Saturday afternoon at Youngstown, by dropping a close decision 13 to 7 to Youngstown East High. The game was played at Memorial Field.. It was the first defeat of the year for Union which previously had been tied twice.

Rain interfered with play in the first three quarters of the game. The Union team outweighed about 15 to 20 pounds per man had a hard time getting started. It was not until the final period that Union was able to show to advantage, and then Joe Augustyn scored the Union touchdown from the three-yard line.

East Scores First

Youngstown East scored a touchdown in the first quarter as a result of Union being held for downs and forced to kick, and East High starting a march down the field with Santor their big star doing the brunt of the ball carrying and finally taking the ball over from the 5-yard line. Dullin failed to make the extra point.

The first quarter ended with the ball in possession of East High on their own 42-yard line.

In the second quarter East scored their second touchdown and the one that gave them the victory. Santor, Zban and Hanna carried the ball to the 10-yard line, in there more plays East had the ball on the Union one-yard line and Zban plunged it over. A pass from Santor to Zban gave East an extra point.

Union Determined

Union High returned to the field for the second half a very determined young team. The Union team kicked off to East. Zban ran the ball to the thirty yard line. After the Union team was stopped on the 11-yard line East punted to Union on the 45-yard line as the quarter ended.

In the fourth and final period Union began a sustained march for the goal line that ended in a touchdown.

The ball was in possession of Union on the East 45-yard line as the quarter began. Monico made a first down around end. Union was forced to put and East got the ball on their own 10-yard line. Santor was stopped for a three yard loss at the line. East punted to Union L. Augustyn carried the ball to the 35-yard line. Monico gained five through tackle. Union was given a 15-yard penalty.

J. Augustyn Scores

In an exchange of punts Union got the ball on the 40-yard line. Another exchange of punts gave Union the ball again on the 40-yard line. Augustyn went through tackle for five yards. Joe Augustyne went through tackle for 10 yards. Monico picked up three yards. Union now had the ball on the East 18-yard line. A pass from L. Augustyn was completed when an East player interfered with Lannigan. Union's ball on the three yard line. Joe Augustyn playing his final game for Union crashed through for a touchdown, his final one of his scholastic career. L. Augustyn hit the line for the extra point. There was only about time enough for lineup and the entire second team for Union raced on the field.

Monico, the star Union halfback and a Sophomore played a fine game, as did Joe Augustyn and L. Augustyn. Jaworski was not in shape to play, but insisted on being put in the game. He had a badly bruised foot.

Field Is Muddy

Union High had five first downs to eight for Youngstown East. In the passing department Union completed 2 out of 5, and East failed to make a forward pass in three efforts. Union deserves credit for their fine stand in the face of being outweighed and playing on a muddy field. Coach "Morg" Boyd was well pleased with the game that his young charges put up. The Lawrence County Class B title rests with Union High.

Williams A. C. Now Tied With DeHarts For Lead In City-County Grid League

The William A. C. gained a 20 to 0 victory over the Croton A. C. Saturday afternoon at Fall Track field. The victory places the Williams A. C. in a deadlock with the DeHarts for first place in the City-County Grid league.

For three quarters of the game the teams battled on Croton ground, and it was not until the final period that the Williams A. C. led by Kulich, Smith and Gennock took the lead. Croton for the first three quarters put up a fine defensive game holding the Southsiders in the shadows of the goal line on several occasions.

The Williams lost the ball on downs on the two yard line as the fourth quarter got under way. Williams pulled a trick after receiving the Croton punt with Kulich racing down the field and taking a pass from Lewis which netted the first touchdown. It was a 30-yard pass and a 20-yard run.

Williams tallied another a few minutes later when Smith raced through tackle. Gennock scored the final touchdown on an intercepted pass which he carried to the one-yard line and then on the next play took it over. The entire Williams team played good football.

Carnera-Campolo To Meet Friday

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A fifteen-round battle between Primo Carnera and Vittorio Campolo—a meeting that has been talked of for two years—heads the nation's fistic program this week. The two "Dreadnaughts" will clash at Madison Square Garden here on Friday night.

While lacking any important bearing on the heavyweight situation, the clash of the two giants is expected to attract a capacity house. Carnera is the heaviest fighter in the world and Campolo is the tallest.

Westminster Loses To Geneva 18 To 0

Geneva Takes Class B Conference Title By Defeating Titans Saturday

C. Johnson And Weigle Feature For Geneva—Sweeney And Siljander Play Well

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Nov. 23.—Howard Harpster's Geneva college eleven defeated Westminster easily here Saturday afternoon, 18 to 0, and won the Tri-State conference and class B college championship of the district. The Covenanters played a hard driving game that kept the Titans on the defense and while a rainy afternoon hampered play by both teams, the Covenanters clearly outclassed the blue and white at every turn.

Geneva opened up with a hard running attack and after taking the ball on the Titans' 47-yard line, slashed the blue and white defenses for big gains, finally shooting Clyde Johnson around left end for a touchdown.

Johnson Scores First.

Siljander received the opening kickoff and ran it back 25 yards to the 30. Geneva got the ball on the blue and white 47-yard stripe after a punt and clicked off three successive first downs to place the ball on the four-yard mark. On the next play Johnson skirted left end for the score. Grahame missed a placement goal for the extra point.

The balance of the half was a punting duel as the offensive efforts of both teams failed to click. Westminster all but tied the game when Sweeney shot a pass to Siljander from the 50-yard line and he ran over the goal line, but Dishong was caught holding in the line and the play was called back.

The third quarter was Geneva's best from an offensive standpoint. They took the ball on the Westminster 39-yard line after a bad punt and in two plays were down to the four-yard line. Johnson cracked the line and then Johnson backed up and shot a pass to Ifft, who was downed on the four-yard line. Johnson tried to circle right end, but was thrown for a seven-yard loss on the play, but in two more plays he went over the last chalk mark. Aultman tried for the extra point with a placement, but the boot was wild.

Weigle Tallies.

Near the end of the period Geneva took the ball on their own 35-yard line and cut the blue and white line to ribbons in registering three successive first downs to put the ball on the 10-yard line as the quarter ended. On the third play of the fourth quarter Weigle drove through a maze of Titan linemen for the third and last touchdown of the game. Grahame tried a pass for the extra point that was knocked down.

Geneva failed to score again late in the fourth quarter when they were twice penalized for off-sides within the 10-yard line and Westminster took the ball on their one-yard line. The lineup:

Three Big Upsets In Games Saturday

By EDDIE CASEY
(Former All-American Halfback And Now Head Football Coach At Harvard)

(Written For And Copyright 1931 By International News Service)

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—The great objective Saturday of the 1931 football season witnessed three victories that partook of the nature of upsets when considered from the earlier season scores but in all cases, the team which won has had undoubted strength all year.

Southern California defeated Notre Dame in a 16-14 battle of giants out in South Bend, Yale won from Harvard 3-0 and Bucknell beat Fordham. In addition the sterling victory by California over Stanford may well be listed as somewhat unexpected.

Southern California has one of the greatest football squads of all time for material and it is small wonder that it won, but the tradition of victory hung so close to Notre Dame that people had begun to feel that it bore a charmed life.

Yale had undoubted strength of material all season and was using the tried and true Notre Dame offense, but it had failed to click noticeably well due to a combination of unfamiliarity with new assignments and lack of intelligence in critical spots.

Bucknell had been undefeated, while Fordham had just come through a gruelling battle with N. Y. U. and was worn and wan, as a result the Bucknell squad are happy in their first undefeated season in history there.

Navy Bill Ingram was brought to California as coach, not to work miracles but to teach the game sanely and well. He built slowly losing his first couple of games but he built well and he worked miracles by breaking the Stanford reign of six years in this classic of the Pacific coast.

Northwestern clinched its big ten title by taking Iowa with little trouble, Nebraska won the big six Missouri Valley title with a clean victory over Iowa State, Tulane won as expected from Sewanee and must be considered the leader of the South, while Southern Methodist went to the East and cleanly defeated Navy to show that it is the class of the Southwest.

This leaves the field fairlywell covered and the promise of the nomination of a real national champion if the tournament of roses acts as expected by choosing, Tulane and Southern California to meet in California on New Year's day.

Allegheny's Defeat Is District Feature

By VIC JACOBS
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23. — Allegheny College today was no longer the undefeated champion of western Pennsylvania following the stunning 38 to 7 defeat which Coach Crum's Alligators absorbed at the hands of the West Virginia Wesleyan Bobcats.

Cliff Battles scored three touchdowns himself, kicked one of the extra points, and tossed two passes which were good for touchdowns. Battles found many opportunities to display his grid genius against Allegheny.

Bud Devinney and Larry Sullivan, two fleet quarterbacks, today were credited with giving Duquesne a 13 to 7 victory over the North Dakota Flickertails. Devinney brought in the first touchdown on a quarterback sneak. Late in the last quarter, with the score at 7 all, Sullivan flipped a short pass to Zaninelli who ran over for the touchdown and Duquesne's most enjoyable grid victory of the year.

Wash-Jeff found Western Reserve a tough foe during the first three periods of the battle. Later, the Presidents loosened up a bit and defeated the Red Cats 27 to 7 on their own field.

Penn State was helpless against West Virginia and suffered a 19 to 0 loss, providing the mountaineers with a bit of cheer for their season's depressing record.

Waynesburg ended the grid season with a 25 to 6 defeat at the hands of Juniata. Injuries prevented the Yellow-Jackets from showing their full strength.

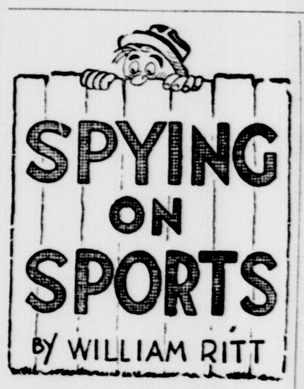
Geneva College carried off the tri-state championship by virtue of its win over Westminster, 18 to 0. It was another great season for Coach Howard Harpster, of Carnegie Tech All-American fame.

Grove City reached top-form in crushing Thiel 20 to 0. The Lutherans failed to maintain their four-game winning streak at the hands of Coach Berry's charges.

St. Vincent ended one of its best seasons by defeating New River 13 to 6 at Latrobe. The Saints mustered their full strength in the last quarter when the West Virginians threatened to take the laurel.

Davis-Elkins trampled the Quantico Marines 7 to 0 under the lights at Atlantic City's indoor stadium. It was their ninth victory in ten starts and found them again at the head of the nation's scoring list.

Shippensburg Teachers nosed out Indiana Teachers by a 7 to 6 margin on a muddy field.



Central Press Sports Editor

After the depression, what?

That is, gridironically (or is it footballishly?) speaking.

Have these extra-schedule games and round-robin football tournaments started something?

Have they opened, the door by which, after all, we may determine some sort of a national pigskin champion without unduly annoying the tender sensibilities of the over-emphasis crowd?

Maybe.

* * *

To get Yale and Princeton, bulwarks of football conservatism, class A standpatters in gridiron dignity, into post-season football tournaments is something that was utterly unthinkable a few years back.

Good times or bad there is always a large market for funds to be used with charitable or philanthropic intent.

Perhaps it isn't being too optimistic to hope that, with the Western conference post-season playoffs and the Yale-Dartmouth-Brown-Holy Cross and Princeton-Pennsylvania-Cornell-Columbia tourneys setting the example, we have discovered the means of settling many football questions to the satisfaction of even the college editors.

* * *

Though nothing but a muchly needed sum to alleviate suffering this winter—and that's a-plenty!—may come of these 1931 football experiments, football has gained something of great benefit.

Football has gained, this year, the great good will of many dis-interested groups, prone to view the annual fall hysteria with distrust rather than with magnanimity.

Football this year is making friends Good friends, valuable ones. And, if football ever comes to trial before public opinion, football's generous performance in 1931 should prove a splendid witness for the game.

* * *

What you, an institution, a community, or a sport did not do to aid charity during these trying times may be forgotten when prosperity shines once more.

That's natural, just as the nation has forgotten the slackers of 1917 and 1918.

However, what you, an institution, a community, or a sport did do to help when help was needed everywhere will be remembered just as we remember the boys who did do their bit against another enemy.

And football, of all sports, is doing far the most.

Local Owned Mare Is One Of Fastest In Entire Country

Ceil Direct, Pacer Belong To Joe Rick, Is Fast Stepper

According to the records published last week by "The American Sportsman," a magazine devoted to horseracing, Ceil Direct by Minor Heir, the little pacer owned by Joe Rick of this city was not only one of the fastest little performers in the country this season, but also established the lowest record for a seven-year-old mare at 2:03½.

The best time by any pacer recorded during the season was 1:59½ made by Star Etawah by Daystar, a 2:05 performer. There were quite a few young horses, stallion, mares geldings, who had better records, but her time was impressive.

Sharkey-Schaaf Bout Mentioned

Former Stablemates May Enter Ring To Settle Little Difference

JOHNNY BUCKLEY TO DROP SHARKEY

By FRANK G. MENKE
International New Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. — What's your reaction concerning a brawl next summer between Jack Sharkey and Ernie Schaaf?

What's that? They're stablemates? Sure sir. But stablemates, like brides and grooms, can and do become parted.

The zephyrs floating over Boston Common are freighted these autumnal days with reports that Sharkey and Johnny Buckley, his manager for many years, no longer are doing a Damon and Pythias act. It is understood that Buckley isn't so keen to keep on managing Sharkey and that Sharkey figures it won't take the cheerfulness out of his life if Buckley isn't chauffeuring his destiny.

That's chapter one.

Sharkey Confident

The second concerns the joint ownership of Shaaf's contract by Buckley and Sharkey. They bought the fledgling leather tosser a year ago for $12,500 and hooked him to a five year contract. Schaaf has come along splendidly under the Sharkey-Buckley handling but, of late, Schaaf fought under Sharkey's "bossing" and Sharkey seems to have it figured out that Schaaf is now Buckley's "pet."

And, between whiles, Schaaf gets surer and surer that he could smite Sharkey to the Wilton if they ever meet and Sharkey, in rebuttal, thinks that he could teach Schaaf plenty of "manners" if they ever went into action.

Two Ex-Convicts Slain, Warfare In New York Renewed

War Between Beer Racketeers In New York City Flares Up Again

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—War between beer racketeers had flared up again today. Two ex-convicts were slain, four men were under arrest, and police took drastic action to forestall underworld reprisals.

Michael Ahearn and John Lynch, said by police to have been gunmen employed in the liquor traffic, were the victims.

Their bodies, riddled with bullets were found in the street.

Police however, believed they had been killed in a speakeasy, and their bodies flung from an automobile into which their slayers had carried them.

AGED GUESTS DIE

The month of November marked the death of three guests at the Wayside Inn, the home for aged and infirm Odd Fellows of western Pennsylvania lodges.

The number establishes a high ratio out of a guest list of 122 but is stated by Superintendent A. G. Eichholtz to be nothing unusual. The number of guests is kept at this total, those next on the waiting list being notified to come.

ACCEPT SOIL TESTS

From Washington, Postmaster O. H. Firm has been informed by postal authorities that the soil tests conducted on the Pine street lot purchased for a postoffice have been accepted as satisfactory by the federal authorities.

There is nothing further to do in this matter but wait on the plans of Architect Holmes Crosby of Oil City.

He was the speaker of the evening at the meeting last evening of the Men's association of the Kittanning Presbytery of the Presbyterian church held in the First Presbyterian church of Kittanning. The doctor will also address the attendance at the father and son banquet held in the Presbyterian church at Brookville the evening of November 24 at 6:30.

Sparks From New Castle Motor Club

$4,640,667.40 Made Available To Pennsylvania In Federal Aid Funds, Oct. 5, 1931

In an effort to keep the nation at work building roads, Federal-Aid funds for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1933, have been apportioned in advance of the usual two-year period and there is $4,640,667.40 available for Pennsylvania, according to Ralph W. Bolsinger, President of the New Castle Motor Club, which is affiliated with the American Automobile Association.

Mr. Bolsinger pointed out that the net apportionment for the entire country is $105,875,000 and these funds are available to the states for immediate application on projected construction.

"While a total of $121,875,000 is apportioned to the states," he continued, "there was $16,000,000 deducted as the first installment of the $80,000,000 emergency fund made available to the states during the present year.

The A. A. A. club executive, on the basis of a report from the national motoring body, cited the policy of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads with regard to the administration of Federal-Aid funds. He said:

"The Bureau of Public Roads, through which Federal-Aid funds are administered, has indicated a desire to accept policies designed to increase employment and to protect labor. Among the acceptable policies are the fixing of a fair minimum scale for unskilled labor and restrictions giving preference to local unskilled labor and to citizens of the state in which work is being done. If legal, the use of Federal-Aid will be allowed where labor is employed direct and where such projects can be carried on economically to provide local employment. Restrictions as to hours per day and days per week in order that workers may be continuously employed are also acceptable. The Bureau of Public Roads will not accept the disbarment of a contractor from the award of a contract because he is a non-resident of the state, provided he is the lowest responsible bidder, nor will it accept the limitation of materials to those produced within the state."

Preparing For Winter

If the temperature threatens to drop to freezing point, you should be sure that your cooling system is in shape to stand it. If you plan on using some anti-freeze solution other than alcohol, you are safe in having it put in now inasmuch as these non-evaporating anti-freeze solutions are unaffected even by an occasional warm day.

Inspection Dates Fixed

Governor Gifford Pinchot by official proclamation has designated the period from January 1st, 1932 to March 31, inclusive, and the period from July 1st to September 30th, as "Motor Vehicle Equipment Inspection" periods. The arrest period begins immediately after each inspection period clases and will run for three months. The Bureau of Motor Vehicles of the Department of Revenue will supervise the campaigns.

"Turtle Driver" Is New Term For Motorists Failing To Give Signals

Motordom has now applied the term "turtle driver" to the motorists who keep the car windows closed during the winter months and trust to fate in turning out from the lanes of travel. Such drivers are in the same class with the "street ostrich," the pedestrian who blindly crosses the street with his head tucked in his coat collar or buried in a newspaper.

Cold weather is a season of traffic hazards. Car owners should attempt to reduce them to a minimum instead of adding to them by failure to give a signal when the intention is to stop or make a turn. The window by the driver's seat should be open sufficiently, even in the face of a draft of cold air, to enable the driver to signal when he plans to change his course in traffic.

The American Automobile Association outlines standard hand signals which have been recommended for universal adoption as follows:

Right turn: Hand and arm pointed upward.

Left turn: Hand and arm extended horizontally with forefinger pointing.

Stop: Hand and arm pointed downward.

Signals should be given from the left side of the car during the last fifty feet before changing the direction of the car or stopping.

Safety Thoughts For Hunters

The one safe gun is the gun safely pointed.

Either "break" your gun or unload it before crossing a fence. Do not pull it through after you. It is even safer to put the gun across first.

Do not carry a loaded gun in an automobile.

Do not lean it against a tree or stump. Lay it on the ground.

Never stand in front of any one who is loading a gun.

Never cock and pull the trigger for fun.

Always look through the bore before firing to see that it is clear.

Carry your gun loaded only when hunting. Unload before entering buildings.

Never cross the line of fire of your companions.

Do not shoot at anything that moves. Be sure your quarry is plainly visible.

Be careful of fire in the woods. Carefully extinguish all matches, cigarettes, cigars, pipe ashes and camp fires. Remember that to have game you must have cover.

Hunters to expect to take a revolver to camp must be certain they possess a permit for this purpose.

CHARGE AGENT MISREPRESENTS

Veterans Heads Hear Tombstone Agent Says He Was Government Representative

Officers of local veterans' organizations are seeking an out-of-town tombstone agent who, it is charged, last week solicited an order from relatives of a deceased local veteran under the pretext that he was a government representative.

Families of deceased ex-service men are asked to report the activities of any such person to the officers of any of the ex-service men's organizations here.

There are only two ways in which a tombstone may be secured for a veteran's grave, either through the county commissioners or the adjutant general's department of the U. S. government. Neither of these two agencies has anyone out representing them.

Applications for government stones, which are 42 inches in height and 2½ inches thick, of white marble, can only be secured through the Red Cross, a veterans' organization or from the adjutant general's office. These stones are furnished absolutely free by the government.

Applications for markers from the county may be made by the veteran's family or by an authorized agent for them, such as a monument manufacturer, and is paid for by the county when the work is completed and properly done.

Privilege Abused

There has been gross misuse of this privilege here during the past, it is asserted, and veterans' organizations have become aroused by the condition.

The Legion of Honor of the New Castle Consistory had the matter brought to their attention recently, and a committee was named by them to see that the work of marking veterans' graves is done in a proper manner and they intend to see that it is carried out this way.

Any person who knows of any such violations is asked to report the matter to Commander W. J. Chapman or Charles E. Allen, chairman of the committee.

Residents of the county are also asked to report the fact if any person comes to them representing himself as an agent of the government. The government does not send out agents to place stones on veterans' graves. Any bona fide local monument maker can handle this matter for the family and they are requested by the Legion of Honor to get in touch with a local tombstone maker.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The death toll in the Doncaster mine disaster, in which hundreds of miners were endangered by a gas explosion on Saturday, today reached 42.

Sing Sing Eleven Loses To Police

By QUENTIN REYNOLDS
International News Service Sports Writer

OSSINING, N. Y., Nov. 23.—"You can't beat the police."

Signs to that effect are displayed in Sing Sing.

"You can't beat the police."

"Hell, you can't even tie them." Alabama Pitts said today after the Port Jervis police team had won a 13 to 0 victory over the Sing Sing football eleven.

Pitts Stars

Alabama Pitts was the particular shining star of the game, but even his really brilliant open field running and his amazing defensive play couldn't stop the smashing play of the Port Jervis police team, steeped in the tradition that "You can't beat the police."

Alabama Pitts plays quarter back for Sing Sing and yesterday he thrilled his 2,000 colleagues at the institution and an additional 2,000 spectators by running back punts, tossing well-placed forward passes and in general playing the kind of game that Albie Booth had played for Yale just 24 hours before in the Harvard stadium.

But Ala—he had little help. Port Jervis crashed through the Sing Sing line. Port Jervis snaked around the Sing Sing ends. Port Jervis tossed passes all over sunlit field when a dreary, unhappy sun had disappeared behind a dreary and unhappy red brick wall the score board read:—Port Jervis 13, Sing Sing 0. Life is like that!

McNamara and his father, Daniel, 50, disappeared after the accident, according to police, who began a search for the two.

According to information reaching here, Constable, a former policeman and steel inspector for the city of New York, was attempting to pass the other car when the accident occurred.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 23.—Police today were investigating an automobile accident near here in which Matt Cecil, 30, of 840 Sheffield avenue, Washington, was killed.

Several Mines Will Re-Open

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 23.—Mine pickets today were to resume their posts at several mines in the Avella district believed scheduled for reopening this week following the plea of Patrick T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, who addressed 250 workers at Avella.

Robert Gaten, international representative of the United Mine Workers, was named to direct the picketing at the P. and W. mine at Avella, expected to be one of the first to attempt to reopen on an open shop basis.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Market Trading Dull And Irregular Today

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The railroad stocks were unsettled at the beginning of the new week by the breaking up of the parley on rail wage reduction and the announced intention of the heads of the carriers to apply for reductions under the provisions of the transportation act.

The market was dull and irregular after the week-end accumulation of selling orders had been disposed of, and most of the industrials and utilities swung back to Saturday's closing level. Little encouragement was afforded by the commodity markets, Wheat dropping off a cent a bushel and Cotton a few points. The Pound Sterling lost 6½ points and fell off to 3.66½, while Scandanavian and Danish exchanges were off 20 to 60 points.

New York Central sold at a new low on the move at 36¼. Union Pacific broke under 90 for the first time since 1903, for a loss of about 2 points. Baltimore and Ohio, New Haven, Southern Pacific and other leading rails lost about a point on the average.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the affected parts. The parts become weak, flabby, almost dead. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause—that's why salves, suppositories and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's prescription, HEM-ROID, succeeds because it removes congestion, restores circulation, heals and strengthens the diseased parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record of quickly ending even piles of long standing, that Eckerd's and New Castle Drug Co. says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back.

Lewis Makes Reply To Request Of Fay

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 23.—The loan of $10,000,000 from the general fund to the motor license fund is not sufficient to meet the obligations incurred in this year's road program, Secretary of Highways Samuel S. Lewis announced today in a letter which went out to members of the house and senate.

The letter was in answer to the request of Senator Frank Fay, Mercer, for information as to why the $10,000,000 transfer, as authorized by the 1931 legislature, had not been made.

Not Due Yet.

Secretary Lewis said that while the money has been obligated, payment of most of it is not due until December, and postponement of the borrowing until the money must be disbursed also delays the time in which the money must be returned to the general fund. The transfer would have deprived the general fund of interest on the $10,000,000 and credited it to the motor fund, "which from a reading of the act of assembly was not anticipated by the legislature," the highway head stated.

Pointing out that the department has not been idle and has worked in anticipation of the loan, Secretary Lewis said that obligations on the department's books at the end of last month were approximately $20,500,000. This figures includes budget balances of former specific appropriations, unpaid road contracts, projects programmed and other work started.

Against these obligations of $20,500,000, he explained, the balance in the motor license fund to pay these bills was only $7,338,048.52. This left obligations in excess of available cash amounting to $13,161,951.48.

The transfer of the $10,000,000 next month will leave obligations of $3,161,951.48. Incoming receipts from applications for 1932 license tags will become available to meet these bills.

Toys! Toys! Still Another Carload Comes As Old Kris Hastens His Plans Along

Sh! Sh! Don't tell the kids!

There weren't any tips of it floating thru the air, but a reporter of The News happened close by a local railroad yard this morning as one of Santa Claus' advance shipments of Christmas toys—a whole carload full—was quietly brought into town for the approaching holiday season.

Yes sir! One huge carload full of sleds, wagons—well, there was everything from husky little bass drums to classy-colored velocipedes. Hardly anything in the toy line was missing—that might explain it better!

Reports from the far north country indicate there's no depression in the Santa Claus workship, where old Kris Kringle and his corps of helpers are busy manufacturing Christmas gifts for thousands of obedient boys and girls.

Today's supply, so say the rumors, will be placed in a local firm's display room for youngsters to peer at during the holidays. Santa, at least in many cases, will be on hand to welcome visitors and jot down the callers' christmas desires.

New Castle stores are well prepared as the new yule season nears and local gift seekers won't find it far to march when they start their present-hunting parade.

Now all of the incoming Christmas stock has been placed on shelves here now, it is believed.
